Rooms Are Robbed

Woodling's Single Drive Scores Coleman in Second Game at Philadelphia

Shibe Park, Philadelphia, Oct 5 (AP)—The New York Yankees held a 1-0 lead over the Philadelphia Whiz Kids today after two innings in the second World Series game before 33,000 fans.

Gene Woodling's second straight infield single off Robin Roberts in the second scored Jerry Coleman who walked and took third on Allie Reynolds' single.

The starting lineups:

Rizzuto, ss	Ashburn, cf
Berra, c	Sisler, lf
DiMaggio, cf	Ennis, rf

First Inning Yankees

Woodling beat out a slow bounder to Hamner between third and short for a single. Seminick made fine catch of Rizzuto's foul pop near box seats behind home plate. Berra punched looping single into short left, Woodling advanced to third, Goliat backed up on grass to catch DiMaggio's lazy pop behind second. Mize raised short foul pop up to Seminick to left of plate.

No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

First Inning Phillies

Waitkus rapped sharply to Coleman who threw him out. Ashburn dropped double into short right-center; Bauer failed in an attempt to make shoestring catch. Sisler looked at three balls, took three swings, swinging at third one. Coleman hurried behind second base to make nice stop and throw to retire Ennis.

Second Inning Yankees

Brown lined out to Ashburn in straightaway center. Jones caught Bauer's foul pop halfway between third and home. Cole-

Reds Silent On Stassen Peace Note

State Department Says Letter Is Not Official; Asks Parley With Stalin

Denounces Soviets

Correspondence Assails Russian Aggression, Korean Stand

Washington, Oct. 5 (AP)—Republican Harold E. Stassen's bid for a sort of citizens' peace conference with Communist Russia's premier Josef Stalin today was greeted with mixed reaction at home and silence from Moscow.

Stassen, an unsuccessful seeker after the 1948 G.O.P. presidential nomination, disclosed the move yesterday. He made public a letter suggesting further correspondence or a face-to-face meeting—publicly reported—with Stalin in an effort "to stop the drift toward war."

The State Department promptly announced that Stassen's proposal had "no official inspiration." But it said if Stalin agrees to meet with the University of Pennsylvania president, Stassen undoubtedly will get a passport to Moscow.

Stassen, questioned closely by newsmen about the political implications of his action, said it was "non-political," but was "definitely a move from an individual in the Republican party."

Diplomatic experts saw little chance that Stalin would accept. But the State Department reportedly welcomed the letter for its propaganda effect. The "Voice of America" featured it on foreign language broadcasts.

No Explicit Request

Stassen's letter did not explicitly ask for a meeting with Stalin. But the former Minnesota governor told a news conference that was its "primary objective."

There were signs that Stalin might be less cordial toward the idea of talking with Stassen than when the two first met in Moscow in 1947.

For one thing, Stassen's letter denounced Russian aggression and her "refusal to cooperate in stopping" the Korean war.

Then, too, the Moscow Literary Gazette had already proposed Stassen for eventual trial as a war criminal. Just a month ago that Communist organ, which often reflects official Soviet policy, blasted at Stassen for suggesting that the U. S. warn Russia that further aggression would "mean that war will come to Moscow." The Literary Gazette said Stassen was advocating atomic war.

Envisages Conference

What Stassen's proposals envisage is a conference between Stalin and leading Politburo members on one hand and himself and four or five other prominent American citizens on the other. Stassen declined to say whom he had in mind for such a mission.

The Truman administration has looked coldly on recent suggestions for high level U. S.-Soviet talks, although the President said he would welcome Stalin to Washington. The official position has been that tension between east and west can best be eased in the United Nations.

Stassen said the proposal had a "better than even chance" of resulting in a conference if (a) the Russians were honestly interested in world peace and (b) no official meetings between representatives of the two governments were arranged in the meantime.

Is 'Implied Criticism'

Besides its sharp criticism of Soviet international policies Stassen acknowledged his letter also was an "implied criticism" of the Truman administration for not following up his suggestion of last Friday that a bi-partisan conference with the Russians be initiated.

Newsmen accompanying President Truman on his Chesapeake Bay vacation cruise relayed word of the Stassen letter to the presi-

Declares Democrats Spread False Rumors

En Route with Dewey, Oct. 5 (AP)—Governor Dewey accuses the Democrats of spreading rumors that children will have to attend school on Saturdays if he's re-elected.

"When they get that low, they have actually gotten below the level of Tammany sewers," Dewey told an Olean Republican rally last night.

Dewey said a Republican woman worker had told him her son had brought the tale home from school.

Dewey visited the New York state community on a campaign trip. He is seeking re-election as New York governor.

Governor Calls For Heaviest GOP Vote in History

Dewey Warns Against Over-Confidence in Campaign; Hits at Gambling

Enroute with Dewey, Oct. 5 (AP) Governor Dewey called today for the heaviest upstate Republican vote in history to block what he termed the intention of "Democratic bosses" to legalize gambling in New York.

The governor charged that the Democrats would convert the state into a "gambling den" if they win the election November 7.

Dewey warned the Republicans against over-confidence.

Starting a re-election campaign across southern New York last night at Olean, Dewey said:

"Anyone who thinks this election is in the bag is making a grave mistake.

"I am the leading authority on that one," he added, obviously referring to his upset defeat by President Truman two years ago.

Dewey called for a 20 per cent increase over the 1946 G.O.P. vote in strongly Republican Cattaraugus county to help offset a heavy Democratic vote in New York city.

In the city, he contended, "you have lots of regimented votes—cruelly regimented, bribed and controlled votes."

Decency is at Stake

He said "ordinary decency is at stake in the electoin." He appealed for a heavy vote "not in my behalf but in behalf of the welfare of the people of the state."

Dewey campaigns today at Wellsville, Corning, Watkins Glen and Elmira. He will make his first statewide radio broadcast of the campaign tonight (6:30 p. m., E.S.T.) from Elmira.

Dewey continued to hammar on the police-gambling scandal in New York city and to link it with the state campaign.

Under a Democratic state administration, Dewey charged, college and high school students and amateur sports generally would be "at the mercy of the gambling overlords and their friends in political office."

Charges Connivance

He said the New York city scandal could not have happened without what he described at the connivance of "crooked political bosses."

Dewey said that Democratic leader Edward J. Flynn of the Bronx controlled New York city and, he added, had "hand-picked" the Democratic state ticket "in the back rooms."

Dewey contended that a proposal by former Mayor William

South Koreans Seize City 60 Miles North

25,000 Are Killed In SouthKorea

Reds Cover as Possible, but Retreat Made Hasty Mounds Rule in Some Places Given as Minimum

Final Total Might Be Much Higher, Say Officials

Tokyo, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Red retreat trail back to North Korea is strewn with buried and unburied bodies of an officially estimated 25,000 murdered men, women and children in South Korea.

Where they could, the Reds covered the evidence of horrible brutalities with earthen entrenchments. In haste of retreat, they left many bodies in exposed mounds at some places.

Some of the victims were American soldiers taken prisoner by the Communist army but the total is not known.

American officers said the overall 25,000 figure is only a minimum estimate . . . the tragic total may run much higher.

South Koreans said most of the victims were bludgeoned, speared, burned or hacked with hatchets for opposing communism.

Mass graves, large and small, are being turned up in city, town, village and hamlet along the bloody retreat route.

Many graves have not yet been opened by American officers probing the mass murders.

U. S. officers fear that "several hundred" Americans whom the Reds took into North Korea may be massacred before the onrushing United Nations forces can reach them.

Disregard Condemned

A shocked U.N. commission on Korea condemned "the complete disregard by the North Korean authorities of civilized standards of behavior." It sat in stunned silence at Pusan yesterday when first-hand reports of the atrocities were presented. It immediately cabled preliminary findings to Secretary-General Trygve Lie at Lake Success.

Partial Figures

Partial figures compiled to date from official sources showed the following murder toll:

Seoul area September 16-September 25: 10,000 and possibly more. The U. S. Army Tenth Corps is investigating.

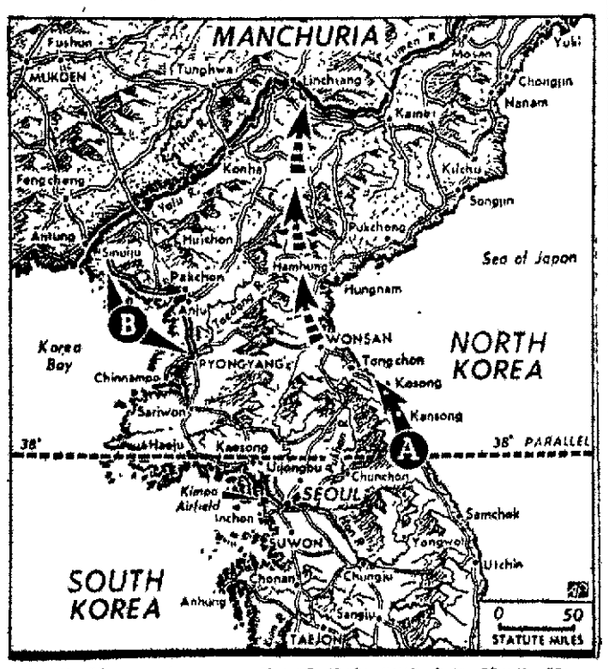

Taejon, September 27: Between 5,000 and 6,000, including some Americans. The U. S. Army First Corps is investigating.

Wonji, October 1: Between 1,000 and 2,000, including some Americans. The U. S. Army 24th Division is investigating.

Chinju, September 22: Twelve

Where South Koreans Press Drive

South Korean forces continued their push into North Korea, stabbing to a point 60 miles (A) north of the 38th parallel. They plunged toward Wonsan and broken arrows indicate their announced aim of going on to the Manchurian border. Meantime, Allied air forces awaited a weather break for further attack on Red convoy sighted Oct. 3 at Pakchon (B) on the Antung-Pyongyang highway.

Between 40-50 Hurt In Railroad Wreck

N.Y.C. Express Hits Derailed Tank Car; Blast Follows

Erie, Pa., Oct 5 (AP)—New York Central Railroad flyer chipping along at better than a mile a minute smashed into a derailed freight oil tank car early today, setting off an explosion which rocked midtown Erie.

Miraculously, no one was killed.

Between 40 and 50 were injured but none was burned although flames from the burning tanker leaped high into the air and lapped at some of the cars on the palatial westbound New England States Express.

The engineer of the Boston to Chicago express had no chance to keep his train from hitting the tank car. It was hurled into the express' path from a freight train traveling eastbound on a parallel track.

Only one of the 14 cars on the streamliner caught fire. It was the dormitory car for dining room employes. More than 30 occupants scrambled to safety through a lone exit which remained open. One unidentified waiter said:

"Everyone just scrambled around. We had been sleeping. Some of us got two left shoes, some got one shoe and some got none. But we all got out of there in a helluva hurry."

Nearly 50 firemen, aided by as many police, were at the scene—only five blocks from midtown Erie—within minutes after the 1:15 a. m. (E.S.T.) crash. They kept the fire from engulfing the train and aided in rescuing passengers.

50 Passengers Trapped

Nearly 50 passengers were trapped in the only car which overturned.

Twelve of the injured passengers were admitted to hospitals but are not in critical condition.

At least 10 others on the express, including one crewman, were treated and discharged. So were two of the rescuers who battered windows with their bare fists to free the injured.

Upwards of 20 doctors reached the scene within 30 minutes. They treated many persons on the spot for minor injuries.

Eleven cars of the train were cast about like jackstraws.

The tank car was about midway in the 75-car freight train.

Eighteen of the freight cars were derailed, including the oil tanker, and another tanker containing what Fire Chief Lawrence Scully said "was some sort of a powdered chemical."

Four Cars Consumed

The two tank cars and two freight cars were consumed by the raging flames.

"It was one of the most unusual fires in my experience," said Chief Scully.

"And it was God's blessing that those people escaped.

"The fact that many persons weren't killed is certainly a tribute to the modern, all-steel cars on the passenger train."

Ray Bloom of Erie, fireman on the express which carried 153 passengers, estimated the crack train was rolling at 70 miles an hour seconds before the crash.

He and Engineer Charles Samuels of Buffalo, N. Y., climbed from their partially overturned Diesel seconds before flames from the tank car spread to the cab. Both suffered from shock but were not otherwise injured.

G. F. Sangston of Wesleyville, Pa., the conductor of the eastbound freight train stated:

"Evidently a car in my train left the tracks which caused the oil tanker to jack-knife across in front of the oncoming express."

Passengers who escaped injury were taken to Union Station where the railroad made up another train.

Man Tells Troopers His Theft Story Was Only 'Coverup'

Albany Resident Lost $758 in Series Bets; Told of Being 'Robbed'

Three state troopers worked all night to solve a reported $758 robbery. The report, they said, turned out to be a trumped up story to explain away "heavy losses on yesterday's World Series game."

The story began in Kingston at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday, when a man called police from a Broadway business place and said someone there wanted to report a robbery.

Patrolmen Thomas Tomshaw and Henry Ronnenberg went to the address and contacted a man who identified himself as Kenneth J. Kannaley of Albany.

Tells of 'Robbery'

Kannaley, questioned at police headquarters, told about being robbed at a point on the East Chester street by-pass. As the point was outside the city limits, state police were notified and subsequent questioning took place at Lake Katrine troopers' barracks.

Sergeant A. A. Reilly, Troopers A. R. Royael and N. J. Nicodemus said they got this story from Kannaley.

Kannaley, 39, of 51 Raymo street, Albany, is a salesman for Heinreich Beverage Company of Albany and also operates the Kannaley Home Delivery Beverage Service of that city.

'Stopped' on Bypass

He told troopers he and a companion James Colfer, 30, were driving Kannaley's panel truck south on 9W, en route to Philadelphia to attend today's World Series game.

At a point on the bypass Kanneley continued according to troopers, they stopped to switch drivers. Colfer had been driving and was to be relieved by Kannaley.

During the switch, a black Ford sedan, registration unknown, drove up and two men jumped out, holding up the two series-bound men and taking $758 that Kannaley had on his person, the story continued. The men got back in their automobile and sped away toward Kingston. Colfer likewise disappeared, Kannaley told troopers.

Went in Search

Kannaley then turned around and drove toward Lake Katrine in an unsuccessful search for Colfer, then he again turned around and went into Kingston and notified police, he said, according to the troopers.

While questioning continued, state police patrols were notified to be on the alert for the two hold-up men, whose descriptions were furnished by Kannaley, troopers said.

At 2:30 a. m. today, however, Sgt. Reilly said Kannaley "confessed that no hold-up had occurred."

Sgt. Reilly said Kannaley told him that he had to turn in money he had collected by October 9, but that he had "lost heavily in yesterday's series game," and had fabricated the story to cover up his loss.

Kannaley was released and no charges were pressed by state police.

Word Is Substituted

Derby, Conn., Oct. 5 (AP)—Motor vehicle travelers on the Merrit Parkway here noted with surprise today directional signs which read "Fordham Bowl." The word "Yale" had been covered by paint and the word "Fordham" substituted above it. A state highway department crew was assigned to correct the signs. The Yale and Fordham football teams meet Saturday in the Yale Bowl.

Town Falls After Day Of Battle

Army of 175,000 U.N. Troops Awaits Time to Wipe Out Reds in Korea

Build-up Is Seen

Communists Prepare Defense on Pre-War Line

Tokyo, Friday, Oct. 6 (AP)—Beating down the strongest resistance yet encountered in North Korea, the Korean republic's Third Division Thursday seized Changjon, 60 air miles north of the 38th parallel.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters estimated that a Red infantry division and a company of Red marines made a stand three miles south of that east-coast town.

AP Correspondent William Jorden, with the fast-moving Republican Third Division, said the town fell to the South Koreans after an all-day fight. His information evidently was several hours more recent than that at Eighth Army headquarters.

Thirty-five miles south of this deepest penetration of North Korea, the republican Capital Division engaged a bypassed force of about 1,200 reds in the hills west of Hwangjio.

The first notable show of Red defense came as a United Nations army of up to 175,000 troops was massing to yank down the iron curtain all along parallel 38 and wipe out Communist resistance in all of Korea.

The non-Korean allies kept south of the artificial border stood ready to cross and join South Koreans who have already pierced the curtain and probed 60 miles or more into the Communist-ruled northland.

Evidence Reported

American scouting pilots reported evidence of an attempt by the Reds to build up for defense on their prewar fortified line just north of 38. From those positions—then called a defense line—tank-led Red columns invaded the republic June 25.

The old line runs from Hwachon, in the eastern mountainous interior, to Haeju, on the west coast. Its eastern anchor has been overrun by the South Korean forces advancing miles to the north along the Sea of Japan coast virtually unopposed.

(The U. S. Navy announced in Washington that the minesweeper Magpie was sunk Sunday by a floating mine off the east coast, near North Korea, and that 21 men are missing. It was the third U. S. vessel to hit a mine in Korean waters.)

General MacArthur's headquarters made it clear that all his forces are ready to go into North Korea if needed.

Non-Korean troops had been held south of 38 since the South Koreans stabbed across Sunday.

Only Military Issue

The question of their crossing from liberated South Korea was considered only as a military issue, General MacArthur's headquarters said, and not as a political hurdle at this stage.

The United Nations at Lake Success Wednesday night directed MacArthur, in effect, to use any means at his command to unify Korea.

Parallel 38 was drawn originally to designate American and Russian zones for acceptance of the Japanese surrender after World War II.

The Allied political aim is a unified, independent Korea. Indoctrinated and armed by Russia, the North Koreans plunged across the parallel June 25. The historic initial U.N. armed peace-enforcement action crushed the Red invaders in three months.

To mop up the remnants, the U.N forces waited only for completion of the buildup eastward from the Seoul-Inchon west coast area and for final decisions on strategy. There was no indication of where the main Allied blows would fall or whether they might be amphibious or overland.

Ultimatum Ignored

The Red regime continued to ignore surrender ultimatums first aired by MacArthur last Sunday and repeated since.

American marines punched northward from rubbled Uijongbu, 20 miles south of 38 and about

Reardon Has Until Monday To Talk Brother Out of Jail

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Ex-Policeman James Reardon has at least until next Monday to talk his brother out of a jail term before the Brooklyn anti-gambling grand jury.

The 33-year-old former cop went before the jury yesterday while his brother sat outside—a legal hostage in a grand jury squeeze play.

Assistant District Attorney Julius Helfand said after Reardon's two-hour session before the jury:

"I received interesting information from James Reardon which may prove to be of vital importance to me."

To get Reardon to keep talking—or start talking faster—Helfand persuaded Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz to hold off jailing an older brother, Patrolman Michael Reardon, Jr.

The 40-year-old Michael Reardon was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $250—the maximum—for his hazy memory before the grand jury. He immediately was suspended from the force without pay.

Michael Reardon said he couldn't recall the names of at least 10 policemen he saw at a 1947 housewarming thrown by bookmaking boss Harry Gross, head of an alleged $20,000,000 a year Brooklyn gambling ring.

Gross, 34, has admitted paying

Civilian Defense Director Talks to Local Rotary Club

Sherwood E. Davis, director of Civilian Defense of the City of Kingston, gave an outline of the civil defense preparations now underway in the city at the Rotary Club meeting Wednesday.

He prefaced his remarks with the preparedness program of the state for the protection of its 15,000,000 people. General Lucius D. Clay, former military governor of the American zone in Germany, is the chairman of the State Civil Defense Commission.

The plans for the city, which is in cooperation with the county program, the speaker said are based on the assumption that the enemy will use an atomic bomb.

That atomic bombs, because of their high coast and limited supply, will be aimed at large military or industrial targets and areas with large concentrated population.

The areas adjacent to major targets may sustain hits if the major target is missed.

In the event of a bombing in the populated area of New York city, the evacuation problem would be a major task, it was pointed out. To meet this emergency plans have been made by the local defense office as was demonstrated through maps and charts of the city and area.

Assuming there was a bombing, the director emphasized some immediate civil defense tasks.

To reconnoiter damage and evaluate available civil defense resources.

To limit the spread of the great central fire and bring the scattered secondary fires under control.

To rescue and evacuate those who have been injured or who are buried under debris.

Action on these problems calls for the taking care of the wounded, the homeless, public safety, fire, transportation, health and medical, public works and the air warning and communications.

It was felt by the director that the surest way to prevent public misapprehension is for the public to know there is a coordinated plan.

He asked for the cooperation of the Rotarians, if and when they were called upon.

Preceding Director Davis' talk, the Rev. Dean Dykstra spoke briefly on the Crusade for Freedom and the need for volunteer workers.

The Crusade for Freedom offers every American an opportunity to play a personal part in a great moral crusade for freedom, faith and peace throughout the earth, he told his fellow Rotarians.

The following Declaration of Freedom, which will be signed by those who enroll was emphasized:

I believe in the sacredness and dignity of the individual.

I believe that all men derive the right to freedom equally from God.

I pledge to resist aggression and tyranny wherever they appear on earth.

Trucker Found Guilty

Newark, N. J., Oct. 5 (AP)—Truck driver Michael Lodato, 37, of Springfield Gardens, N. Y., yesterday was found guilty of passing counterfeit $10 bills. A federal court jury disregarded his plea that he had been with a girl friend the night Secret Service agents testified they met him to arrange to buy bogus money. Federal Judge Thomas F. Meaney remanded Lodato to Hudson county jail in lieu of $5,000 bail and set Oct. 13 for sentencing.

THE ATOM AND THE CITY

The threat of the atomic bomb could bring what some would regard as one of the best things that could happen to the United States, if it leads to the break-up of the big cities. A special issue of the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is devoted to civilian defense, and advocates dispersal rather than the continued increase of city areas that are already too large from many standpoints.

Traffic is one obvious handicap to big cities. Expensive bridges, tunnels and by-passes are constantly being built to prevent traffic from piling up. At the same time new skyscrapers and business blocks are erected to draw in more traffic.

Each year, writes Tracy B. Auger of the General Services Administration, we are building a million new city dwellings and all that goes with them. One trouble is that many of these are erected on the fringes of big cities that are already overgrown, whereas they should be miles away. Even at that, these new constructions pay for themselves in a few years, through the savings that they make possible, compared with life in the heart of the city.

Military authorities should have the right to veto further concentration of urban centers, thinks Horatio Bond, chief engineer of the National Fire Protection Association. Military dictation of civil planning would seem to be the pinnacle of things to be avoided. But we might have to choose between that and the elimination of war.

THE PERENNIAL DERBY

In America the derby hat has gone into retirement along with the bustle and the fancy vest. It has few mourners. Hard and unadaptable, it did little for the face it surmounted, unless the face happened to be just right for it.

In England, the place of its birth, the hatmakers have set aside the first week in October of this, its one hundredth anniversary year, as "Bowler Hat Week." A steeplechasing peer designed this headgear as a protection during falls from his horse, and it was first manufactured by the Bowler brothers. Lord Derby brought the style to America and his name has clung to it here. In London it is still compulsory wear for gas meter readers, and is worn extensively by men who work in the financial district as well as by members of that nebulous class, "the men about town."

Men are slow to adopt changes in the style of their apparel. Unlike women, they feel no urge toward continuous variety in this line. It is something to the credit of American men, therefore, that they have foresworn the derby in favor of the soft hat. Londoners are no doubt shocked to learn that many men here go about bareheaded in all weathers.

LICENSING CRIME

Communities in need of revenue might pick up some ideas from racketeers and gangsters. Yazoo City, Mississippi, seemed to be doing just that. An unofficial license to violate the state prohibition law was granted by the city council, according to Acting Mayor P. J. Whallen. By arranged agreement, bootleggers were allowed to operate on condition that they pay one $100 fine a month.

This is the traditional gangster method of doing business. It is in vogue, unfortunately, in a number of American cities. This is the nearest approach, so far as noted, to actual licensing of a criminal act by the city government.

This kind of money-raising is not limited to the licensing of bootleggers. Gambling houses gladly pay for protection where they can, and so do major individual criminals. A city which got its income from such sources could dispense with taxes. Who will be the first to try it, and will the citizens approve?

FOR BARGAIN HUNTERS

Passing some notable mansion, who has not thought how nice it would be to pick it up such a place at tax sale, or inherit it, or something? One of the most luxurious homes in Cleveland went on the bargain counter this summer. Built at an estimated cost of $350,000 or more before the post-war inflation, it could have been bought for less than a third of that figure, perhaps substantially less. But business was slow.

Maybe potential buyers inquired too deeply into the item of upkeep. The real estate tax, for instance, is $5,200 a year.

One way to avoid worry is to be too busy for it in the daytime and too sleepy at night.

Some soda jerkers are aptly named, while others are courteous.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THEY CROSSED THE LINE

To repeat: It is impossible to correct an historic mistake except by war. The Ford Foundation apparently intends to use its money in the ages-old search for a substitute for war, but it is likely to produce nothing more serious, in these times, than learned monographs by erudite and imaginative professors. And the reason is not that war is a satisfactory instrument but rather that too many mistakes have been made which cannot otherwise be corrected, except in a static world.

No one would have imagined at any time, until it actually happened, that Korea, of all countries, would build an army and risk a war with the United States. And of course, the unimaginable did not happen: Korea never went to war by any act of the Korean people. Soviet Russia, utilizing a native force of her own creation in Korea, crossed the imaginary 38th parallel and risked battle.

Realistically, Russia should have been held accountable for a breach of treaty when it rejected the concept of a united Korea, but this was not done. Instead, a line drawn only for the purpose of handling Japanese prisoners of war in that country was perpetuated into two political spheres of influence.

This was an historical error that had to be corrected, as it could not be continued indefinitely. Therefore, one side or the other would sooner or later cross the imaginary line. When both the United States and the United Nations showed a disinclination to unify Korea, Soviet Russia, pursuing an imperialistic program on a 7,000-mile front, moved with a force that had been 30 years in the making, its organization having been planned at the Baku conference in 1920.

Now the tables having been turned by the military victory of General Douglas MacArthur, the line has been crossed again, this time by the South Koreans.

And that may lead to war with either Soviet China or Soviet Russia, which is the same thing. At stake is not Korea or the 38th parallel. At stake is the authority of the United Nations, the United States and Soviet Russia. The conflict is over the issue of empire. Shall the conquest of Asia by Soviet Russia be arrested, under the authority of the United Nations, but by the armed forces of the United States, or, shall Soviet Russia establish the principles that any country conquered or absorbed or enslaved to the empire shall never be influenced, affected or molested by any power on earth?

The very continuance of the Soviet empire depends upon the ability of Soviet Russia to prevent the unification of Korea by the United Nations. From the Russian standpoint, such unification should be achieved by Soviet Russia in her own way, in accordance with the Soviet pattern. The crossing of the line by the South Koreans is a challenge to the Soviet theory of empire.

The attitude of Soviet China does not seem in doubt. It is a member of the Federation of Soviet Republics. True, Chou En-lai, its foreign minister, has been flirting with Great Britain and the American State Department, but this is a meaningless play for time and advantage. In fact, the United Nations invited Soviet China to appear before it on November 15, but time is running out, and Soviet China cannot afford that MacArthur's forces should lie on the borders of Manchuria and Siberia.

Soviet China and Soviet Russia want every European driven out of Asia. The British have lost their sense of empire. It is unimaginable that Disraeli or Canning would have failed to see through the Russian game. Can anyone imagine that even Sir Edward Grey could have failed to understand that Russia was stimulating commercial cupidity to separate Great Britain from the United States to the disadvantage of both?

The current socialistic British government, hungry for dollars, more anxious to carry through its planned economy than to defend its national future, has played into Stalin's hand in Asia, with the result that another error is in preparation: The error of recognizing Soviet China while the war in French Indo-China is developing—a war in which Soviet China must play the leading role.

And so, we spill blood to rectify old mistakes and to make new ones. Only when the west recognizes that the mistakes of the past were mistakes, can there be a formula for peace.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

HOSPITAL STAY FOR OVERWEIGHT

I write frequently about overweight because of its many dangers and disadvantages. Many overweights do not worry about the danger in weakening the blood vessels (heart and brain strokes), but they do worry about the disadvantages—the fact that it spoils their appearance and interferes with their everyday actions.

Every case of overweight can be helped if the individual is willing to cut down on his daily intake of food. This sounds like an easy method of reducing weight, but overweights state that they feel weak when they do not eat all they want at mealtime.

Where there is no underactivity of any of the glands of the body and the overweight cannot refrain from eating a full meal, some physicians prescribe a drug to reduce the patient's desire for food. Perhaps the most popular drug for reducing the appetite and thus the weight is amphetamine, or its deratives or close relations, benzedrine sulfate and dexedrine sulfate. These drugs not only cut down the desire for food but have a bracing or lifting effect so that there is not the usual weak feeling. Benzedrine sulfate is used with excellent results in the treatment of alcoholism (if the patient wants to be cured), because it takes away the desire for alcohol and gives a mental and physical lift when it is most needed.

Overweight is now considered such an important ailment or disease that the Mayo Foundation and Mayo Clinic have patients referred to them for treatment. Even moderate overweight in the latter half of life increases the chances of developing such degenerative diseases as diabetes, cancer and heart disease. Because in hospital doctors and nurses have a better chance of watching and talking to those overweights, they rarely find it necessary to use amphetamine or its deratives in reducing weight.

A patient willing to enter hospital just for reduction of weight is taking the matter seriously and will follow directions faithfully. Also, he or she will not likely develop weak spells while at rest and under watchful care.

Overweight and Underweight

It has well been said that weight is one of the clearest indexes to the state of one's health. Write today for Dr. Barton's booklet entitled "Overweight and Underweight," enclosing 10 cents and a 3-cent stamp, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate, Inc., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

There'd Be Some Sense to a Strike Like This

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It is now possible to get a reasonably accurate picture of what the Kremlin had in mind when it invaded Korea and the impact our victory has had on Kremlin thinking. This picture comes from intelligence information pieced together from various parts of the world and, while its accuracy is not copper-riveted, it is probably reasonably correct.

At the time of the Korean invasion, the Kremlin was convinced that the United States would not resist. This conviction came partly from the Soviet Embassy in Washington and was unwittingly confirmed by the top U. S. adviser to South Korea, Col. John E. Baird, through his Korean mistress, Kim Soo Im. Through the unsuspecting Baird, the Korean mata hari learned of various secret directives, all showing we had written off Korea and did not plan to return in case of North Korean attack.

Subsequent events indicate that Colonel Baird may have done his country a great favor.

For, banking on American inertia and the difficulty of mobilizing the United Nations, the Kremlin had prepared a series of "revolts" in other areas to follow the Korean attack—Formosa, Tibet, French Indo-China, civil war in north India, an invasion of Yugoslavia and Greece, an Azerbaijan attack on Iran, and a drive to push the Allies out of West Germany.

If these could be accomplished, the Kremlin planners were convinced that anti-Communist governments in France and Italy would fall and the history of Czechoslovakia would be repeated.

Upset Timetable

What upset the Kremlin timetable was the sudden decision of President Truman to order U. S. troops into Korea plus Secretary Acheson's well-planned maneuver to get U.N. Security Council approval for our counterattack. From two reliable sources, we know that the Kremlin was dumbfounded.

The 14 men in the Politburo had never expected anything like this, and the Soviet Embassy in Washington was ordered to report immediately as to what went wrong.

This upset threw other Soviet moves off schedule. Communist troops, it will be recalled, were all set to invade both Formosa and Yugoslavia, but the attacks were delayed for reconsideration of strategy.

What Next From Kremlin?

What will happen next is hard to predict. However, two factors seem worth examining. Because the Kremlin's intelligence was so bad regarding Korea, they appear to be worried about trusting intelligence reports from other countries.

Also, it appears certain that the current peace front which Malik and Vishinsky are waging at Lake Success is aimed to lull us back to appeasement.

The last thing the Russians want is an alert, heavily armed U.S.A. Hence the friendlier speeches, the rumors of a Stalin-Truman meeting and the talk that Vishinsky will attend an American football game.

Meanwhile there will be riots and exploratory probings in Germany, probable uprisings in Azerbaijan, plus Communist successes in Indo-China.

If we appease, the Kremlin will go back to its old bulldozing. If we continue tough, there should be a bona fide change in Kremlin policy—though this would be a miracle.

'Headlines Bring Trouble'—H.S.T.

President Truman got some stimulating ideas on how to "win the peace" the other day from Harold Russell, armless commander of Amvets and star of the movie, "Best Years of Our Lives."

"Instead of waging a 'preventive war' against Russia, as some people advocate, our policy should be one of 'preventive strength'," suggested Russell. "That doesn't mean we have to hold still waiting for any further acts of Soviet aggression. But it does mean that the door for peace must be left open at the U.N. conference table. I'm not one of those who believe that war with Russia is inevitable."

The Amvets chief hotly assailed Congress for failing to pass an excess-profits tax and for appropriating more money for "pork barrel" projects than for atomic research.

"Profit dollars should go to war the same as men," declared Russell. "Our guys are fighting and dying in battle and unless we back them up at home, the whole thing becomes a mockery. We've all got to make sacrifices—industry, labor, the farmer—all of us."

"Everything you've said makes sense to me," agreed the President. He added that he was grateful to Amvets for not waging a personal war on his cabinet, "like some outfits."

"That would have put you in the headlines," said Truman, "but I didn't go after headlines, either, when I was chairman of the Senate War Investigating Committee. And yet in a poll conducted by a leading magazine (Look), I was the only member of Congress chosen among the 10 'most useful' government officials."

His problems really started when he began to get big headlines, added the President. "Now," he said, "look at the trouble I'm in."

Civilian Defense Nepotism

Civilian War Mobilizer Stuart Symington is one of the most efficient operators in government, but he has one weakness—his family.

On the same day President Truman sent his special message to Congress warning American cities to prepare for atomic attack, he left the vitally important job of preparing these cities against attack in the hands of a charming socialite who got his job only because he was Symington's brother-in-law.

Jerry Wadsworth, now acting head of civilian defense, is a tall, amiably, teddy-bear sort of individual, who at the age of 50 has made no career for himself, but happens to have two potent relatives: 1. His father, G.O.P. Congressman James Wadsworth of New York; and 2. His brother-in-law, Democrat Stuart Symington, former secretary for air and now head of the National Security Resources Board. From his father he gets a boost from the Republicans, and from his brother-in-law he gets help from the Democrats.

In fact, shortly after Symington came to Washington as War Assets administrator, likeable, inexperienced brother-in-law Jerry turned up as his assistant. Later, when Symington was given the Security Board, his brother-in-law came to work under him in civilian defense.

Now, with the resignation of Paul Larson as chief of civilian defense, Wadsworth is left in acting charge of the job once held by dynamic Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York. And this is an atomic age!

World Awaits Demonstration of Sincerity by Action on Part of Russia

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 5 —Harold Stassen's approach to Stalin reflects the simple approach of the average man—trying to sit down with the other fellow and reason with him.

This is an American concept of persuasion but in the case of Stalin it falls to the ground because the Soviet chief has been guilty of sanctioning perfidy and crime.

Nine out of ten persons in the United States today would probably not accept any words of Stalin or any agreement or pledge made by his government as worth the paper it is written on.

Even Harold Stassen's own letter points out that the American people are interested in deeds or action not words or documents.

If the Kremlin has any intention of changing its policies, it would not need an invitation from any group of private citizens in America to bring about such a change.

There is no doubt that if the Soviet Union does want to change and wishes to use the Stassen letter as an excuse, such a shift would be welcomed by the world as a significant gesture but the world would also await proof of sincerity in deeds before accepting any such gesture as real.

The trouble with the Stassen proposal is that it is addressed to criminals. It comes after the Kremlin has engineered an aggression in North Korea and brought about the organized murder of thousands of civilians. Any government which sanctions such cruelty is not entitled to further consideration except by those governments afraid of the Kremlin or bent on appeasement as an easy way out of a crisis.

The Soviet government has shown itself incapable of fulfilling international obligations. It has trifled with the United Nations and obstructed its progress. It has lied to the world through its propaganda machine and caused thousands of its agents to foment strikes and otherwise to interfere with the economic life of friendly countries.

But, worst of all, the Soviet regime has dishonored its pledges given at Potsdam and Yalta and has occupied territory it never was awarded. It has also failed to liberate tens of thousands of prisoners of war from Germany and Japan.

Such a government isn't deserving of the Stassen approach or the visit of any mission. Such a government deserves only to be con-

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Oct. 4—In a review of the permeation of our government by agents and partisans of the Kremlin during Roosevelt's reign, Martin Dies, the chairman of the old special committee of the House, recently canvassed that betrayal of the people's trust in such detail as most citizens have never heard before. His statement was entered in the congressional record by Rep. Harold H. Velde, of Illinois, a Republican, with the observation that this historical report was worth the cost to the taxpayers. The cost was $287. The House gave unanimous consent.

I have given one condensed portion of Mr. Dies' summary dealing with his warning to Roosevelt that the Communists were planted in his government for the sole purpose of stealing secrets for Moscow, and Roosevelt's reply that there was nothing wrong with Communists. Some of his best friends were Communists.

Coming now to the famous association of Eleanor Roosevelt and her protege, Joe Lash, Mr. Dies said:

"There was a little fellow by the name of Joe Lash who was head of the American Youth Congress. Lash had been very active in communism and we exposed him. One day, I got a telephone call from Mrs. Roosevelt, asking me to have dinner with her. I knew something was up. I had heard that she was underwriting to persuade naval intelligence to give an appointment (commission) to Lash. He had never been inducted into the armed services. Well, I went to the White House and, there, seated in the anteroom were six or eight well known Communist youth leaders, waiting for Mrs. Roosevelt. They sat at the table and ate with me and Mrs. Roosevelt.

"At the table, he said to me, 'I presume you know why I asked you to dinner.' I said: 'Well, I have got sort of an idea about it. Is it about Lash?' And she said: 'Yes.'

"I said: 'Mrs. Roosevelt here is the record of Joseph Lash. I have brought it with me. He perjured himself before our committee.' She said: 'Yes, he told me he did, but he is very sorry.'

"'Well,' I said, did he tell you he was a member of the Communist Party?' She said: 'Yes, he was just an idealistic, ambitious young youth and he hastily embraced communism but now he wants to repent.' I said: 'Mrs. Roosevelt, how do you know he has repented?' How can you afford to ask to put him in naval intelligence?'

"Well, we discussed it pro and con and I went back and ordered the committee to meet and Joe Lash and one of the New Dealers who appeared as his counsel before it and asked him if he had not perjured himself before a former member of the committee and he admitted he had.

"Then I asked him why he wasn't in the army and he wasn't able to give any explanation. We called up the draft board in New York and found that on intervention of the White House he had been kept out of the army. We demanded his induction and he was inducted. Long shortly thereafter I saw Gene Tunney and Gene said:

"'Martin, I have something that will be amusing to you. Do you know that at one camp they have a toilet named Joseph Lash

Contract Is Scrapped

Burbank, Calif., Oct. 5 (AP)—An aircraft company contract that did not have a wage re-opening clause has been scrapped because of "changed economic conditions" and the employes have been given wage increases averaging 10 cents an hour. The new agreement was announced last night by the management of Lockheed Aircraft Corp., which employs 12,000 and Lodge 727 of the International Association of Machinists. The wage increases will cost the company about $2,500,000 a year. The old contract had almost a year yet to run.

Opening lead—♠ A

Today's hand was played in the finals of the men's and women's pairs in the recent summer championships of the American Contract Bridge League.

Freak hands are always hard to bid properly and this was no exception. In spite of the fact that the ace of spades was a sure winner against the hand about a third of the expert pairs reached contracts of seven in either hearts or clubs.

Most of the grand slam heart bidders were doubled and set two tricks by a club lead. The grand slam club bidder also went down two on a spade opening and club return. However, they were not doubled.

Another third of the players reached the small slam in a suit. Some were lucky and made their contracts. Others went down one.

About a sixth of the players reached the lay-down six no-trump contract by themselves. Another sixth got there the hard way. After getting to six hearts they would be doubled whereupon North would run to six no-trump.

Actually, there is no reason why a good partnership should not reach six no-trump with the hand. As a starter North is almost strong enough to open with two but should content himself with a bid of one in his longest suit. South's response of one diamond is normal as is North's jump to two hearts.

As soon as he hears North's two heart jump South intends to reach a slam somewhere. He has two problems. One is to explore grand slam possibilities. The other is to find the best spot for the slam contract. Hence he merely bids three diamonds to confirm the fact that he has a good diamond suit.

North's three heart bid shows a five card heart suit and infers a six card club suit. With five in each suit North would have opened with one heart. South bids four clubs as a temporizing bid, in order to see what North will do. North's bid of four hearts is a very fine tournament bid. He does not know that South has the ace of clubs and therefore he can not bid a slam. At the same time he shows that if no slam is to be bid the hand will probably play alright in the higher valued suit.

South's jump to five no-trump finally shows his strength. At the same time the bid denies the ace of spades. With the ace of spades in his hand South would simply have shown it by bidding four spades.

Finally North's bid of six no-trump is entirely logical. He knows South does not hold the ace of spades but must hold the queen for his five no-trump bid. Therefore North sees that no-trump is as safe a contract as any and he bids the slam there, where it will count most. Remember, honors don't count in a duplicate.

Girls Beat Boys

State College, Pa. (AP)—Officials at the Pennsylvania State College aren't saying whether girls are smarter than boys. But figures released by Dr. C. O. Williams, acting dean of admissions and registrar at the college, reveal that during the spring semester, women students scored a 1.62 average while the average for men students was 1.44 Both are based on a grading system that uses 3 00 as the perfect average. The figures also revealed that sorority women were higher than non-sorority women, but that non-fraternity men scored higher averages than the fraternity men.

He also suffered a compound fracture of the left leg and numerous lacerations.

Racket Hits Schools

Singapore (AP) — A protection racket among Singapore school boys was revealed recently. The usual procedure: A small boy gets knocked about by a bigger bully for one or two days. Then a schoolboy of the "protection gang" approaches the small boy and offers to protect him at a price—one dollar or 50 cents a month.

Pakistan Chases Afghans Home

Karachi, Pakistan, Oct. 5 (AP)—Pakistan said she was chasing Afghanistan forces back to their mountain homes today after a new crossing of this country's northern borders. The shooting followed two years of bickering and some violence between the neighboring countries

The defense ministry said Afghan tribesmen and regular troops had entered Dobandi, some 450 miles north of Karachi, last Saturday and occupied Bogra Pass.

The communique said the invaders sought to seize the strategic Quetta-Chaman railway in the Khojak area but they fell back when Pakistan troops and civil forces, with air support, engaged them at the foot of the pass on Monday. It added that the home force is pursuing the invaders "with the objective of expelling them from Pakistan territory."

This is the second scrape between the two lands in the past few months Earlier the Pakistan government charged Afghan troops had entered this country on June 16 and clashed with border guards at Gamagha.

The two countries have been at odds for the past two years over Pathanland, a chain of barren hills extending from Pamirs to Baluchistan and inhabited by the warrior Pathan tribesmen. The tribesmen, backed by Afghanistan, want to set up their own state of Pushtoonistan, or Pathanistan Pakistan claims the territory as its own.

Another Recruit—Because it is more elastic.
Sergeant—Wrong.
Third Recruit—Perhaps it's because it looks nicer than any other kind.
Sergeant—Don't be silly. It's because it is so ordered in the regulations.

Vacationist—Oh, I like the scenery around here. But people up here are queer.

Central Hudson Pledges $10,000 To Hospital Fund

The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation has subscribed $10,000 toward the $850,000 building fund being sought by public subscription for the enlargement and modernization of Kingston Hospital, it was announced today by C. S. Rowland, chairman of the corporation's committee.

The action of the Central Hudson's board of directors in approving the $10,000 pledge was reported to the building fund by Edwin T. Strong, district manager in charge of the company's Kingston office.

"The officers and directors of our company," Mr. Strong said, "believe that we, as a company, are a part of the community in which we do business and that we have a responsibility toward it. We are glad to be able to do our part in an undertaking of such importance to every citizen, not only of the City of Kingston, but of Ulster county."

E. R. Acker, president and general manager of Central Hudson, expressed a similar view in commenting on the corporation's decision to make this substantial contribution toward the hospital's expansion program. "We feel," he said, "that this company has as much at stake in maintaining the health of the community as does any group of citizens. Adequate and modern hospital facilities are our best health protection."

"We regard it," he continued, "as a sound investment to contribute toward the capital cost of the hospital accommodations which our employes and their families need and use."

Acknowledging the Central Hudson gift on behalf of the building fund, Mr. Rowland cited it as "an impressive endorsement of the soundness of our program." Further, he pointed out, it is evidence of the growing acceptance by enlightened management of the responsibilities of "corporate citizenship."

"I am confident," the chairman concluded, "that Central Hudson's generous subscription will serve as a stimulating example to other of our commercial and industrial leaders in determining the extent of their participation in this vital civic enterprise."

Stevedores May Quit

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 5 (AP) — Longshoremen told City Public Safety Director Charles Witkowski yesterday they may strike if police keep frisking them for gambling evidence. Frank De Lorenzo, business agent for Local 1247, International Longshoremens' Association (A.F.L.) said there would be a waterfront tie-up if the police don't stop "embarrassing" the stevedores. Lorenzo and 15 longshoremen stormed Witkowski's office. But Witkowski said he would stand behind the gambling squad, which "did its duty" by including the piers in a roving search for bookmaking or numbers tickets.

Slutsky Hall Is Dedicated; Large Turnout at Event

Almost all of Ellenville, regardless of race or creed, turned out this morning to witness the dedicatory ceremonies of the Joseph Slutsky Auditorium of the Ellenville Hebrew Aid Society.

Clear and sunny skies greeted clergymen, lay notables, village, town and county officials who took part in the ceremonies, which began at 11 a. m. and lasted for about two hours.

The building, to be used on a non-sectarian basis for community gatherings, cost an estimated $75,000 and is a gift to the society from the Slutsky family.

Among the officials present for the ceremonies was State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, senate majority leader, from Kingston.

The principal address was given by Rabbi Karl M. Chworowsky, Brooklyn a leader in the interfaith movement. Rabbi Jacob I. Nislick, New York city, who was spiritual leader at Ellenville when ground was broken for the auditorium October 18, 1949, outlined the origin and purposes of the center.

The donors, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Slutsky, presented the deed to the building to the Ellenville Hebrew Aid Society. The deed was accepted by Harry Ladenheim and Irving Blickstein, vice presidents, and turned over to Meyer Regenbogen, chairman of the board of governors of the center.

The invocation was offered by Rabbi Herman Elsner, spiritual leader of the Ellenville Hebrew Aid Society. Benediction was by the Rev. William Coombe. Among the other speakers was Ellenville Mayor Henry L. Schipp.

Democrats Work To Get Big Vote

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Rep. Walter A. Lynch today turned his attention to getting out a big labor vote against Governor Dewey, whom he tagged the "bankers' darling."

The Democratic nominee for governor scheduled a conference here this morning (10:30 a. m.) with leaders of the State Federation of Labor. This afternoon (3 p. m.) he was to speak at the state C.I.O. convention.

Together, the labor organizations claim about 2,000,000 members in the state.

Lynch pinned the "bankers' darling" label on his Republican opponent last night at Binghamton.

He also charged that Dewey had tolerated lax enforcement of laws against crime and vice and accused the governor of "condoning" gambling in Republican counties.

Lynch asserted that Democratic district attorneys in New York city had set an example in exposing such conditions.

This renewed attack on alleged crime in Republican-controlled areas came in a city that has had its own grand jury investigation of charges that police protected gamblers. A number of police officials and others have been indicted in the probe begun last spring by Broome County's Republican District Attorney, Robert O. Brink.

Lynch said that "lax law enforcement" outside of New York city was "a disgrace when tolerated by a governor who brags about his career as a prosecutor."

He accused Dewey of seeking campaign publicity by stepping into the Democratic investigation in Brooklyn.

The Democratic nominee also charged that the Republican state administration had neglected highways and had placed local communities in a tax "straitjacket" by not providing more state aid for school construction.

He said the average of state highways was 19 years and asked: "Can you wonder now, with our highways in this deplorable condition, why candidate Dewey prefers to hide his head in Korea?"

At Ithaca yesterday, Lynch accused Dewey of being "probably the only man in America disillusioned by the American victory in Korea."

Pfeiffer Replies

Rep. William L. Pfeiffer, Republican chairman, replied to that charge last night, saying he was "deeply shocked."

"The idea that anybody, let alone a great American and respected leader of a great state, could be anything but happy to see victory achieved in Korea is unthinkable," Pfeiffer declared.

The Binghamton speech marked the end of Lynch's second "get-acquainted tour upstate. Shortly afterward, he boarded a train for New York city. He will stay in the Metropolitan area until Tuesday, when he resumes his upstate campaigning at Syracuse.

On October 12 he will meet Orange county delegation at New York-New Jersey state line at 5:30 p. m. At 7 p. m. he arrives at Newburgh with a dinner at Hotel Newburgh at 7:30 p. m.

From Newburgh, Lynch is to return to New York city. He will set out again Saturday, October 14, for a schedule that includes:

October 14—11:30 a. m., leave New York; 1 p. m., meet Suffolk county delegation at Huntington, luncheon at Huntington and tour of Suffolk county; 7 p. m., arrive Hampton Bays; 8 p. m. dinner, Canoe Place Inn; 10:30 p. m. leave Hampton Bays for New York city.

October 17—6:45 p. m., meet Westchester county delegation at Yonkers-New York city line; 7 p. m., dinner at Schmidt's farm, followed by return to New York city.

Home Fires Keep Burning

Eldred, Ill. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fullerton and their son, Pauly, are wondering whether the third time's the charm or whether they should find a new home site. Two years ago, a fire destroyed their home near this small southwestern Illinois town. They lived for several months in a tent until their new home was built. But it was destroyed by a fire, too.

Today's Business Mirror

BY SAM DAWSON

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Home builders are on the anxious seat today as the Federal Reserve Board drafts new curbs on the housing boom.

New down-payment rules and across-the-board controls of the building industry will be announced next week, Thomas P. Coogan of Miami, Fla., president of the National Association of Home Builders, predicts. Some think the rules will be fairly mild. But Coogan thinks not.

He says the ones the board has in mind are too drastic. The building industry naturally is interested in keeping the home building boom going. It has been one of the staunchest props of this year's prosperity. Coogan says it is based on a real need for new homes in a growing population.

Fiscal authorities, however, have been watching the mushrooming of home mortgages with concern for some time. They feel the easy credit terms, the low down payments and the long periods the mortgages run, are among the biggest spurs to inflation. And some have even wondered if the nation might not suddenly find itself over-built if the housing boom continues unchecked.

Asks Many Materials

With the Korean war starting a rearmament program, Washington also wants for defense production many of the materials that have been pouring into new homes. The first step was to tighten up on the easy credit the federal government was giving home builders through federal insurance of mortgages. The step expected next week will probably tighten all mortgage terms, whether backed by federal guarantees or not. Any drastic allocation of materials, however, could cut the boom down to size even faster.

A record 1,300,000 new housing units are going up this year. New credit curbs will cut this back to 800,000 or 900,000 next year, some federal authorities estimate.

Such a drastic cut in home financing and building could do more injury than good to the country, says Earl E. Crabb, chairman and president of Investors Diversified Services, Inc., of Minneapolis. He says the present practice of paying off home mortgages on a monthly basis assures such a flow of return money that home building can be supported at a high level without contributing to inflation.

A slowdown in home building is already under way, the National City Bank of New York reports. It notes a drop in residential building contracts in September and a sharp drop in applications for F.H.A. mortgage insurance.

To Tighten Credit

Stating flatly that "housing credit is to be tightened further," the band adds: "And home builders express alarm lest the industry be over-deflated, creating pools of unemployment among construction workers and materials producers. Whatever the outcome, it seems clear that demand is easing."

On the general subject of the danger of inflation, a plea went out today to banks served by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to help preserve "the integrity of the dollar." Six directors of the reserve bank — three of them bankers and three industrialists—sent a letter to banks in this area saying "This is no time for free lending and spending."

They pledged "to do all in our power to preserve the integrity of the dollar, the purchasing power of wages, of profits and of savings."

Credit Isn't All

But credit isn't the only thing involved in the rate of home building. The price of materials has been rising, and with it the price of homes has gone up. Some builders think that public resistance to higher prices is slowing down the boom. Many builders also fear government allocations of materials needed for defense production will make it impossible for them to complete building projects they had planned for next year.

The construction industry uses such currently short materials as steel, aluminum, copper and lumber. Builders have been paying more for these since Korea.

But an easing of lumber prices has been noted recently. Record lumber production has helped slow down the scramble for supplies.

Meanwhile, all eyes are on Washington to see if forthcoming curbs on credit and materials will be as severe as some in the construction industry fear. Many in the banking field doubt if they will.

Yanks Take 1-0

man walked on a full count. Reynolds singled sending Coleman to third. Woodling sent a long foul into upper right field stands missing a home run by a dozen feet. Woodling got his second infield single when Hamner made a fine backhanded stop of his twisting grounder between third and short, but could not come up with throw. He finally tried force at second but Reynolds easily beat throw to that bag and Coleman crossed the plate with the first run of the game. Rizzuto sent a high soft fly to Ashburn in shallow center.

One run, two hits, no errors, two left.

Second Inning Phillies

Jones was called out on strikes. Hamner belted triple between DiMaggio and Bauer as long low liner bounced off the right-center field wall. Seminick slapped two-bouncer to Coleman just beyond the infield grass. Hamner held third as Coleman threw out Seminick. Goliat sent easy fly to DiMaggio.

Third Inning Yankees

Berra went down swinging. Goliat scampered out on the grass in short left to get under Dimaggio's short fly. Mize looped lazy single over Goliat's head into right field. Ashburn moved back few strides to gather in Brown's high fly.

Third Inning Phillies

Roberts struck out. Waitkus lined a double barely inside the foul line in the right field corner. Ashburn fouled to Berra in front of the Phillies' dugout. Sisler went out on a weak roller to Coleman.

Radio Listeners Urged To Hear U.J.A. Program

Local residents were invited today by Joseph Honig, chairman of Kingston's part in the United Jewish Appeal, to listen to a special radio broadcast Sunday evening starring Helen Hayes, the "first lady of the American theatre."

The program, "Formula for Life," is sponsored by the U.J.A. It will be heard over the network of the American Broadcasting Company from 7 to 7:30 p. m. Sunday, October 8.

The program coincides with the wind-up of the drive to obtain funds to meet urgent needs in Israel, Europe and North Africa.

Sunday will be "C" Day—"C" for Cash. Eddie Cantor is chairman of "C" Day when communities throughout the country will conduct special drives to raise the maximum possible cash for U.J.A. work.

Miss Hayes has achieved widespread recognition as one of America's outstanding actresses. Star of the recent Broadway success, "Wisteria Trees," with which she is now on tour, she has appeared frequently with the Theatre Guild of the Air. One of her best known roles was that of Catherine Barclay in the motion picture version of "Farewell to Arms."

"Formula for Life" was written by Millard Lampell and will be produced and directed by Himan Brown, radio chairman of the United Jewish Appeal. Brown is producer of "Inner Sanctum" and other network shows. Music is under direction of Bernard Green.

25,000 Are Killed

American soldiers. The U. S. 25th Division is investigating.

Yosu, September 27: 200. The U. S. 25th Division is investigating.

Chongju, no date, 2,400. U. S. Army Ninth Corps investigating.

Suchon, September 29: 280. U. S. Second Division investigating.

Yangpyong, September 23 to September 29: 700. U. S. 10th Corps investigating.

Mokpo, September 28: 500. U. S. 25th Division investigating.

These are the large scale slaughters already known. How many more will be uncoverrd as the inquiry proceeds can only be estimated, officers said. But if the gruesome ratio holds elsewhere they expect to find "450 to 500 in every fair sized town."

Cases Are on File

The war crimes investigation section of the judge advocate's division said between 20 and 30 other major cases are on file but have not yet been investigated. The places and dates were not disclosed.

Along with them there are countless other instances in which the North Koreans killed the members of a single family in a small village.

There are others in which Red troops driven into the mountains came out at night probably looking for food and then killed the residents of a village.

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton reported one such at Changhung near Kunsan which occurred last Monday. In that case the Reds armed only with bamboo spears methodically impaled 82 people including children after they took the food.

Became Massacre

The Wonju tragedy reported by AP Correspondent William Jorden apparently was a quasi-military operation when it started. But it quickly became another massacre of civilians.

Jorden said the North Koreans first overran a South Korean command post, killing five American officers along with the South Korean officers. The Reds then turned on the civilians and killed between 1,000 and 2,000.

In most cases, however, the Reds cut down their victims for political reasons, namely, anti-communism.

Every war correspondent moving forward with the troops saw the dead and wounded civilians who were shot at the very last moment. The numbers ranged from two or three to 10 to 20.

Women Shot in Legs

At the tiny village where the marines crossed the Han river in the drive on Seoul—a community of about 50 thatched huts and probably 30 people—a grey-haired old lady was left shot through both legs. Three men were killed. Several others were wounded.

South Koreans attached to the marines explained simply, "they were anti-Communists. This village was about evenly divided between Communists and the others."

At another village when four marines flushed a sniper from a cornfield the Koreans begged them not to leave. An English speaking boy said "the Communists will say we told you where he was. They will kill us all."

Many such instances, dwarfed beside the mass murders of hundreds and thousands in the bigger cities, may never be reported and investigated.

In South Korea the fragments of the main Red army are hiding in the hills. The American advance has swept through the area and on to the north. It had not been possible to leave troops in every village and hamlet.

Partly for food and partly for revenge the Reds occasionally come down at night. The Wonju murders were a large scale example.

It will be many months before the whole grisly story is known, American officers in the investigation section said.

Reds Silent . . .

dential yacht Williamsburg. There was no return comment.

The proposal "sounded good" to Henry A. Wallace, most recent prominent American to write Stalin a personal plea for peace. That was an open letter on May 11, 1948.

Stassen's idea was viewed less charitable by two Democratic lawmakers.

Belongs With State Dept.

Senator Anderson (D.-N. M.), executive vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, commented tartly: "The initiation of any such project properly belongs with the State Department."

Senator Elmer Thomas (D.-Okla.) put it this way in a separate interview:

"Under the Constitution, the President has the first, second and the last word on foreign affairs. I am sure Stalin knows this and I don't think he will deal with anyone except the President or someone authorized to speak for him."

The senate Republican floor leader, Senator Wherry of Nebraska, said in South Sioux City, Nebr., that the proposal is worth serious consideration.

Result of Conferences

Stassen said the letter was the result of a long series of conferences with Republican Senate and House leaders, University presidents, retired military officials and others.

He declined to name any of them, but did acknowledge discussing the general world situation with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Colombia University, and John Foster Dulles, G.O.P. advisor to Secretary of State Acheson. In New York, Dulles had no comment. Neither did Acheson or U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie.

Stassen also told reporters:

1. He plans to take a leave of absence from his university next month to make a five to six weeks tour of the Far East to study conditions and confer with leaders in most Asiatic countries other than Red China.

2. He now anticipates that in 1952 "I will more likely be supporting some other man for the (Republican Presidential) nomination than be involved myself."

The New York Central trains were rerouted on the Nickle Plate Railroad tracks which are parallel to the four blocked N.Y.C. tracks.

Wrecking crews went to work immediately but there is no indication when the tracks will be open for service. However little time is being lost by New York Central trains because of the availability of Nickle Plate tracks.

Rapid Hose Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of Rapid Hose Company will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the engine house on Hone street.

Reardon Has . . .

$1,000,000 a year in protection money — "ice," the underworld calls it—to crooked police. But he won't name the cops who took the money.

Judge Leibowitz told Michael Reardon he probably will go free if the grand jury is satisfied with his younger brother's testimony.

Otherwise, Leibowitz says, Michael will be "thrown to the wolves" and will have to serve time in jail. Meanwhile, his commitment to jail was held up and he was set free until Monday at least.

James Reardon quit the police force three years ago, retired to the rural quiet of Connecticut and set himself up as a golf-playing country squire in an expensive home at Westport, Conn.

Leibowitz has said James Reardon—if he tells all can make Gross break by silence and "melt like ice in the meantime."

The grand jury resumes its sessions Friday. Today is an off day.

An expected shakeup of the detective division of the police department failed to come off yesterday. But Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy—the new broom brought into the department after the Gross scandal broke said the entire detective staff is being surveyed from top to bottom.

Labor Relations Parley Attended By Wadlin Oct. 4

Assemblyman John F Wadlin of Highland on Wednesday attended a meeting of the Full Committee on Labor and Industrial Relations, formerly known as the Ives Committee, in New York city The meeting was held at the office of the committee at 12 East 41st street. This joint legislative committee includes members of both the Assembly and Senate and once this bipartisan committee has approved legislation it is almost certain to become law

At the meeting the committee members heard a report on what is being done to rehabilitate injured workmen so that they may get back into business and earn a living. This report was given by Department of Education rehabilitation authorities who explained the great strides which have been made in "physical medicine" and showed how workmen who have been injured and come under the Workmen's Compensation law may be rehabilitated and returned to active industry where their injuries have been of such a nature as to prevent a further continuance of their former trade or occupation.

The purpose of this hearing before the joint legislative committee members was for the purpose of ascertaining the facts and with the aim to amend the law further so that more people may learn of and be reached by the rehabilitation program. As a result of these hearings the committee hopes to be able to draw up some definite plan for recommendation to the legislature

European Trip Is Reviewed by Girl

Florence Friedman, senior at Kingston High School, who spent eight weeks in France this summer on an American Field Service scholarship, gave a review of her summer's trip before a meeting of Prisma Society last week.

Miss Friedman, who made the trip to Brussels by plane, told of being met by a representative of the Field Service and taken to the home of the Piguet family of Paris with whom she lived for five weeks. The Piguet family, she explained, made it possible for her to become thoroughly acquainted with Paris and to observe carefully life in a French family.

At the end of her stay in Paris, Miss Friedman, together with nine students from France and Belgium, who had studied in the United States last year, enjoyed a camping trip on Loire river where they visited several of the famous French chateaux.

They also visited the quaint Norman village of Giverny where the great impressionist painter, Monet made his home.

On August 29 the group of American students again met in Paris where they took the boat train for Cherbourg, sailing on the Canberra for Montreal.

Miss Friedman expressed her appreciation to Prisma for arranging the scholarship for her and expressed the hope that she might return to France in a few years.

Students Studying Window Displays

The cooperative retailing classes at Kingston High School under the direction of Loryne Connick, instructor have started field trips to study merchandizing displays. On Tuesday they visited the Up-To-Date store where they studied the lay-out of the store, lighting effects, storage of stock and window displays.

This class also is engaged in arranging show-case displays as part of their class work. So far this term students working in teams have made displays of jewelry, clothing, boots, children's clothing, gloves and pocketbooks, and roller skates and skating equipment. All were arranged with appropriate seasonal backgrounds of blending colors.

Materials for the displays of clothing were loaned to the class by Montgomery Ward Company and the Junior Deb Shop. The display of girls' wear from the latter shop was arranged by Angela DuBois, Jacqueline Robeson and Virginia Orr. The display of Montgomery Ward school wear was arranged by Patricia Ruffing, Ella Maritz and Jack Deyo.

Materials for the display of infant wear was loaned by Kramers' Infant Shop and was arranged by Joan Welch, Harry Teetsel and Ruth Van Aken. Joan Davis, Rose Martini and Charles Tiano set up the arrangements of gloves and pocketbooks loaned by Montgomery Ward.

Both Safford and Scudder and Schneider's Jewelry Stores loaned items for two attractive displays, the first consisting of watches, cigarette lighters and identification bracelets, the second of necklace, pearls and rings. The students working on these arrangements were Mel Sottile, Enis Forlini, William Burr, Marilyn Lamphere, Anthony Colao and Anita Lohmaier.

The display of western style cowboy boots was done by Marjorie Bunt, Mickey McGowan and Frank Roedell. Kinney's Shoe Store loaned the items. Olive Grant, Mary Tremper and Paul Stauble arranged the display of roller skates and skating equipment loaned by Elston's Sport shop.

Would Have Savings Banks Buy Common Stocks

Lake Placid, N. Y., Oct. 5 (AP)—The State Savings Banks Association urged today that savings banks be permitted to invest in common stocks and other equities.

The association adopted a resolution of its committee on savings banks investments, which recommended that such investments by savings banks be limited to the amount of the bank's surplus and undivided profits. Deposits would not be invested.

An association spokesman estimated that this would make available about $1,000,000,000 for investment in common stocks and bonds.

At the present time savings banks are limited to investments in mortgages and certain bonds, such as U. S. Treasury and state bonds.

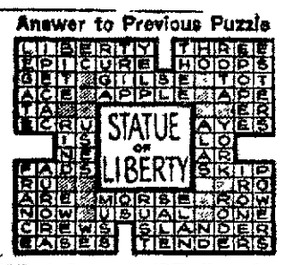

The first newspaper in New York City was named the New York Gazette. It was started in 1725.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Paternity Case Is to Be Tried

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Trial of a paternity action against Joseph C. Bancroft, Jamestown, N. Y., manufacturer, was set yesterday for Nov. 10 despite objections by Bancroft's counsel that the court lacked jurisdiction.

A red-haired photographer model, 25-year-old Mrs. Doris Furst, claims Bancroft fathered her daughter, Ingrid, born Nov. 1, 1948.

She staged a "maternity sit-down strike" for 11 days at Bancroft's dwelling in White Plains in August, 1948, and left only after gas, electricity, and telephone service were cut off.

Special Sessions Justice Frederick L. Hackenburg, who set the trial date, ruled against the argument that the court lacked jurisdiction because a settlement had been reached.

Bancroft's lawyer never made public the terms of the settlement but said in court some weeks ago that it "provided for total satisfaction in the case without admitting any paternity."

Mrs. Furst wants the court to rule Bancroft is the father.

Judge Agrees

The judge, in ruling that the court had jurisdiction, agreed with the city corporation counsel's office which said the welfare commissioner here is not barred from instituting proceedings to protect a child from becoming a public charge.

The city also has the right to test the validity of any agreement involving a child's support, the corporation counsel's office said.

Amos S. Basel, New York city attorney, who had brought suit as guardian of the child, lost out in a ruling by the Appellate Division, Fourth Department, on March 15.

Basel had described as fraudulent a previous agreement between Mrs. Furst and Bancroft which provided that he pay her $1,500.

Chautauqua County Judge Hugh U. N. Bodine ruled on May 19, 1949, that the proceeding should be thrown out because it was instituted by the guardian and not the mother.

The Appellate Division's action March 15 was to deny an appeal for reopening this suit and to uphold the action of the lower court.

Case Trial Opens Monday in Albany

The prosecution has scheduled trial next Monday in Albany County Court for Reginald W. Case, 48, of Woodstock, former state trooper charged with defrauding the state of $6,493 in disability pension payments to which he allegedly was not entitled.

Case was indicted by an Albany grand jury after an investigation by Sidney B. Gordon, then assistant state attorney general. Gordon is now a deputy secretary of state.

Case will be the first of several to be brought to trial on similar charges. The trial will be before County Judge Earl H. Gallup.

Bing's Father Dies

North Hollywood, Calif., Oct. 5 (AP)—Harry Lowe Crosby, 79, affectionately called "Pop" by Bing and the boys, is dead. The crooner's father died at his home of a heart ailment yesterday. Bing reached him shortly before the end came, speeding to the bedside from his home at Pebble Beach, Calif. Because of the death, the Bing Crosby recorded radio program was canceled last night. The singer said he did not want his voice on the air on the same day his father died. The elder Crosby's wife, Catherine, three others sons, Larry, Everett, and Bob, and two daughters, Mrs. Rose Miller of Alameda, Calif., and Mrs. Catherine Mullen of Watsonville, Calif., also were at the bedside. Another son, Ted, a Spokane auto dealer, did not receive word in time to get here.

Mandatory Controls Seen

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 5 (AP)—Mandatory controls were seen by one purchasing agent unless business "keeps its head" and fights runaway prices and scare buying. "If we avoid scare buying we can give the priority system a chance to work," H. J. Jones, president of the National Association of Purchasing Agents, also declared. He spoke yesterday at the fourth annual southwest purchasing conference of the NAPA's District Two. He urged purchasing agents to "question" price increases imposed upon them and urged their firms to resist the temptation to raise prices unnecessarily at this time.

Registration Days

Friday and Saturday are the first two days of registration in the City of Kingston. If you do not register, you cannot vote in the important general election on November 7. Plan to register tomorrow or Saturday. The polls will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

TB Association Donates $1,000

The Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association this week donated a total of $1 000 to help establish rooms for temporary care of mental patients at the Kingston and Benedictine hospitals

An appropriation of $500 to each of the local hospitals for this purpose was approved at a special meeting of the association's board of directors Monday night The mental patient rooms will be included in the plans for new wings at both the hospitals

In proposing the grant Dr Edward Shea, chairman of the mental health committee of the Tuberculosis and Health Association said that at present the Ulster county jail is used to house mentally ill patients who, necessarily must be confined pending their transfer to mental institutions

Sheriff George C Smith and his staff were commended by Dr Shea for their understanding handling of such patients, but he added that mental patients 'should not be in jail ' He said holding such persons in jail leaves a stigma felt by the patient and his family

Bus Beer Ad.

Hurley, N. Y., Oct 2, 1950.
Editor, The Freeman:

Will you kindly print the following letter in the next issue of The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Dear Readers:

As a worker and shopper in the city of Kingston for many years, I have been a regular patron of the city buses to convey me to the various parts of the city, and so I feel that I have the right to protest the "BEER" advertising as displayed on the front of the city buses.

I am sure I am not alone in protesting this form of advertising. I have talked with many people these last few days and the great majority of them are greatly opposed to this form of advertising.

I attend church in Kingston and travel by car; but I wonder how the folks who had to travel to church by way of city bus, felt, when they had to ride in a bus with a large "BEER" sign on the exterior of the bus, in such large and glowing letters it can be seen for blocks away. I am sure they were very much embarrassed.

I sincerely hope and pray that something can be done to stop this sort of advertising, so that the buses may look like a bus once again. I for one will not ride in a bus, until such advertising has been removed.

Thanking the editor for his kindness to publish this letter,

I remain

Girl, 10, Sleeps Until Fire Siren Shrieks

Chicago, Oct. 5 (AP)—A 10-year-old girl was aroused from a sleep of more than 40 hours yesterday by a shrieking fire siren.

The girl, Patricia Kenerney lapsed into a fitful sleep on Monday night from which she could not be awakened on Tuesday morning. She continued sleeping throughout the day and night and most of Wednesday.

Her father, Michael, 44, an engineer, recalled that in August, 1949, Patricia had slept in the same manner for 14 days. She finally was awakened by the sounds of a siren as fire engines sped past her home.

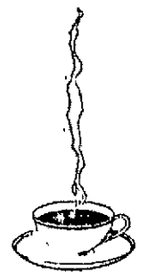

Kenerneys late yesterday explained his daughter's condition to Fire Lieut. John Mahoney. The fireman drove a fire truck to the Kenerney home at 1243 West 80th street and parked under the window of Patricia's second floor bedroom.

The siren screeched Kenerneys leaned out of the bedroom window and told Mahoney Patricia had awakened.

A physician who had attended Patricia during her previous prolonged sleep declined to discuss the case in detail.

The first issue of the New York Weekly Journal, Nov. 15, 1733, contained an article on liberty of the press.

The Story of Your Newspaper

The Freeman Composing Room

American Newspapers—Truth to a Free People

Continuing the series of articles on "The Story of Your Newspaper," in conjunction with the observance of National Newspaper Week, which we hope will give our readers a new insight into the tremendous scope of a newspaper in operation and the way in which the various units must be integrated, we come to the composing room.

The composing room is where the typographical tradesmen ply their trade. The myriad of words handled daily by both the editorial and advertisement departments are set in type by these printers, who arrange the composition for presentation to our readers.

There is a fascination about the printing trade, which is attested to by the fact that very few printers ever leave the trade. In The Freeman there are printers who continuously have worked for over 40 years and the years of service have been as high as 52 years. But to go on with the workings of this mechanical department.

Nine of the most modern Intertype and two Linotype machines are available. These machines produce the news matter and smaller type captions. Ludlow Typograph machines set the larger type for the headlines and for the display advertisements.

Each line of type is on a separate lead slug. These slugs are placed in their proper sequence and aligned in columns to form complete stories. Separate from the stories are the captions, which the editors send to the composing room. These are set on the Ludlow. These heads are added to the stories, which have been assembled on "galleys" or metal forms. After the typographical errors are marked by the proofreaders and corrected, the stories are assembled in the page forms. In the inside pages they are arranged with the advertisements.

The foreman of the composing room each morning receives a schedule from the advertising department of the number of ads and the space required. He then makes his decision as to the size of the day's edition. This is made known to the editor in charge of the copy desk and he arranges for the amount of news which will go in the paper that day. News is fluid and the required amount to cover eventualities in the news during the time alloted is uncertain, but nevertheless on these estimates the day is begun.

The news copy, which is filed through the world-wide coverage by the Associated Press, the city staff, the county correspondents, sports, society, syndicate columnists and the features—is edited and sent to the composing room with instructions as to length, guide line and on what specific page it will appear. The caption is sent out separately.

The text of the paper is set up on Intertype or Linotype machines, which cast lead slugs of uniform width on the top surface of which is raised the letters in reverse. The machine works from a keyboard.

The advertising copy is likewise set up on the linotype machines and also on the Ludlow Typograph machines. This copy carries the size and type face desired by the advertiser and also instructions for the mats, which illustrate the articles offered by the merchant. When the type is set for the ad, the printers, then working as compositors, compose the ad according to the specifications.

The Ludlow, which sets the larger type, is much less complicated than the linotype. In cabinets marked for size and type face are the mats from which the lines of type are cast. They are placed in "sticks," which in turn are inserted into the machine. Here molten lead is forced against the "mats" and a solid slug of lead with raised type is produced.

Along with the type necessary for the proper presentation of the news and ads are borders, which surround the ads, rules which separate the columns, slugs which separate the lines of type, metal blocks for base for cuts or, for white spacing. This material also is made by various machines, which are in daily operation, and also in constant demand.

After the news or advertisement copy is set in type, compositors take the type and assemble it so that it is now ready for the "make-up" man to place it in its proper place in the form. However, before the type is moved from the "bank" to the "stone" where is is placed in the form, the original copy or manuscript is sent along with a galley proof of the ad or news item to the proofreaders, who mark for correction the typographical errors. These corrections are made and a revised proof is then returned for a second reading by the proofreaders.

Working swiftly and smoothly, the printers have before them the ever-lasting deadline. Time is always of the essence in the producing of a newspaper.

When the news and the ads are placed in their respective positions in the form, which is called a "chase," the forms of type are taken by the stereotyper, who rolls a mat from the type and cuts, which comprise the form. Upon the form is placed a special kind of paper, which under a pressure roller takes the impression of the type and cuts. When the mat is rolled and prepared for size it is then sent to the press room where the stereotyper places it in a scorcher. Heat is applied to dry the mat before it is ready for casting.

The next step in getting out the day's edition is in the press room, which will be the next department reviewed in the series.

Here in the composing room are pictures of some of the craftsmen who set the type and arrange the composition. In the top picture may be seen pages of The Freeman being assembled in the forms. From left to right are Robert Steeger, Joseph Huber, William Guldy, Foreman John L. Slizewski and in the rear Oliver Van Steenburgh.

In the second picture are John Dittus, Sr., and Raymond Haines, who are operating Ludlow Typograph machines. On these machines are set the headlines and the copy for display advertisements. Some years ago, this type was set by hand, but even with these time-saving equipment, the printers must work swiftly and smoothly to complete their tasks before that ever-threatening deadline.

The third picture shows Joseph F. Sullivan, Charles Derrenbacher and Donald Hyatt operating linotype machines, which molds type for general news stories or medium sized headlines. Some advertising copy also is set on these Intertype and Linotype machines.

Charles Goble in the fourth picture is shown operating a Monotype strip caster, which turns out borders, dashes and spacing material used in news items, ad assembly and general spacing. Shown also are the storage cabinets, where type and base material is stored. On an adjoining machine various type sizes and base material are turned out. This material is ready when needed for replacements.

In the bottom picture are the proofreaders, Miss Catherine Gardner and Miss Lillian D. Herdman. Galley proofs are taken of all the news items and ads immediately after they are set in type by the printers. These proofs together with the original manuscript or copy are brought to these proofreaders, who check the proof against the copy for typographical errors. A revised proof of the errors also is returned for a duplicate check.

Registration Days

Friday and Saturday are the first two days of registration in the City of Kingston. If you do not register, you cannot vote in the important general election on November 7. Plan to register tomorrow or Saturday. The polls will be open from 10 a. m. 10 p. m.

"I'm A Businessman"

Most boys think 'Dad' is a pretty fine fellow . . . and like to follow in his footsteps. That's just one reason why many boys become newspaperboys.

The practical experience gained through handling their own money, having a regular job to do, meeting and dealing with customers is valuable training for any boy. A newspaper route gives the average boy an opportunity to gain confidence in himself, creates a self respect at an impressionable age when character is being formed.

NATIONAL NEWSPAPERBOY DAY
OCTOBER 7, 1950

As Pegler Sees It

and a few days ago the boys were out marching. Here comes the White House car and out stepped Mrs. Roosevelt and set for Joseph Lash. He broke ranks, went to the White House car and Mrs. Roosevelt carried him to town and there he stayed two or three days before he reported.

"I had a member of the secret service who worked in the White House give me reports every week on what happened in the White House. I knew that leading Communist agents had access to the White House, were going there and using their influence to affect our domestic and foreign policy. I am telling you these incidents so that you may have some faint idea of how thoroughly Stalin was able to dupe the United States."

Mr. Dies' version of the Lash incident at the military post is slightly garbled. Mr. Tunney says he did not report that this episode happened at "our camp." He was a naval officer and this scene occurred at an army training post on Collins avenue, Miami Beach, where Lash was undergoing training. It was related to Tunney by Humphrey Doulens, a young manager for theatrical talent, who was in an adjoining company. Mr. Doulens rose to the rank of captain by the end of the war and is now handling Hildegarde, the night club entertainer.

Mr. Doulens' version is that when Mrs. Roosevelt drove up the company was in formation and that, without waiting for dismissal which came in a few minutes, anyway, she asked the captain to call Lash out of ranks as she was leaving and wanted to say good-bye to him. The captain called "Private Lash, report —" to the White House car or some such direction and Lash bolted forward through the ranks. Thereat, a tough sergeant of the 26th Division roared at him to get back into ranks, step back, and report in a military manner. He does not know how long Lash was excused from duty.

Later, Mrs. Roosevelt commandeered a four-engine army plane and crew and an army officer to act as her personal press agent and flapped far and wide over the South Pacific, but inevitably and unerringly put down on a secure island where, of all the soldiers in the American army, Joe Lash just happened to be.

Wants Him to Pay

New York, Oct. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Guggenheim, divorced from the senior member of the copper mining family, argued in a federal tax court yesterday that her ex-husband should pay the tax on her alimony. Mrs. Guggenheim, a North Babylon, N. Y., horse breeder, is fighting a $15,000 government tax lien against her. The government said she paid no taxes on $16,500 in alimony she received in 1943 and 1944.

Hopeful on Strike

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—A "hopeful" atmosphere was reported last night after the first of a series of talks aimed at ending a strike by some 3,000 Railway Express Agency drivers and helpers. The meeting was between officials of the A.F.L. International Brotherhood of Teamsters and members of an Emergency Board named by President Truman to look into the 11-day-old strike. Yesterday's five-hour session was the board's first since it was appointed.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Do you remember when diner's were called "lunch-wagons?" Do you remember Pierson and Dorr's lunch-wagon down at 53 East Strand back in the early 1900's? Carl M. Pierson, who now is one of the sales force of Fowler & Keith, a hardware establishment on the Strand, told me that they opened their lunch-wagon in 1906. I see it listed also in the 1910 Kingston City Directory. Mr. Pierson said those were the days of five cent sandwiches, and for 25 cents you got a hot plate dinner of ham, eggs and potatoes and bread, six slices if you wanted it. He said his trolley-car wagon was custom made for a lunch car, not an old trolley-car redone as some think they were. He had several stone steps leading to the door. There were also iron handles like on the old trolley. One evening a gentleman, who had drunk something stronger than water, stepped up and grabbed the trolley-like handles, swayed a bit, and called inside, "when you get to Murray street let me off!"

The recent item of girl money-counters who break the sealed bags and boxes brought in from pay stations, and how they were able to lift rolls of change without being detected, brings back memories. I recall years back, when I was a little girl, and a nice middle-aged man used to "collect" the money from the pay station. He would take out all the money in our presence, it was loose change, no bag or box. Then he would sit himself at a little table and stack up the nickles, dimes and quarters while we all watched him count them. In that way the storekeeper knew immediately how much was taken in his pay station. Of course now with the new system, it's time-saving. A man comes in, takes the sealed container and he's out like a flash, his hands never touch the money. Later the storekeeper receives a report.

The conversion to natural gas also brought back memories when the local company used to send their experts whenever pilot lights or other adjustments were needed. The local men were like the capable crew who just gave our gas equipment a good going over and even taught us how to light it. Wish they'd keep some of those experts around here. I remember being in a Brooklyn home when the lights went out. I said, "Maybe it's a fuse." The lady of the house said, "That's alright, our light company has service men for that. Why should I fool with the equipment?" The repair car was down in no time. That way of course the company also keeps check on all equipment especially if it isn't working right. I think it's a safety measure which I hope will come back to us like we had it before the war. These natuural gas experts certainly put our old stoves in good working order.

I remember especially the late Steve Merkel of 82 Abeel street, who worked for the gas company. He'd come in and say, "Now then come back in an hour or so what's the matter Soph?" In fact from another job and put them the men were so obliging that they back in the stove and adjust them would take out our burners, give properly. How many housewives us a chance to wash them, and remember that service?

Customers' Corner

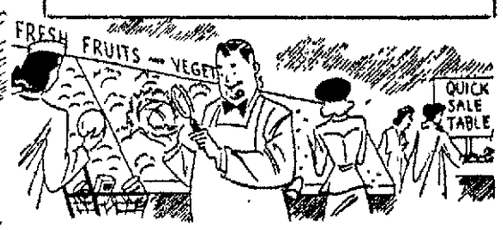

Packing your order may sound like a little thing, but our trained employees give it a lot of thought.

They know that it isn't right to place five pounds of flour on top of a quarter pound of butter . . . or to place soap next to cheese.

The men and women of A&P will appreciate it if you will let them have any suggestions as to how they can make a handier package for you to take home.

Hits the Mayor

New York, Oct 5 (AP)—The Director of New York city's Division of Labor Relations resigned yesterday in a huff. He said he was quitting on the ground that Acting Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri's mayoral candidacy is hurting Democratic chances on city, state and national levels. Joseph E. O'Grady who had held the $15,000-a-year labor job since early last year, told Impellitteri in his letter of resignation, 'It has become apparent that you place your own person and selfish interests above the progressive interests of the Fair Deal.' Impellitteri promptly described O'Grady's letter of resignation as "more of a campaign document than an orderly letter of resignation,' and added "It looks as though it was released from the headquarters of Judge (Ferdinand) Pecora, and I am informed that that is a fact."

MISS FRANCES LAW

Miss Frances Law, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Law, 150 Fair street, has enrolled in the freshman class at Cortland State Teachers College and is majoring in general education.

Miss Law is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of '50, where she was president of the Spanish Club, vice-president of the Ski Club, and active in Prisma.

Junior League Hears Schwenk Address

John Schwenk, former alderman-at-large, Kingston, chose city government as the subject for his address to members of the Junior League at their first fall meeting Monday evening at the Nieuw Dorp, Hurley.

Mr. Schwenk, who worked almost two years to draw up a new charter for the city, explained to the group that the present charter tends to produce division of responsibility rather than efficiency.

"The present charter of Kingston was adopted in 1896" he continued." Under our city charter the City of Kingston has one of the most widely decentralized types of government in New York state. It was designed for that period in our city government when the mayor received no salary and did not give his full time to the job.

Mr. Schwenk also discussed the New York State Education Law in detail, conducting a question and answer period with league members at the conclusion of his remarks.

At the business meeting which followed, a report was given on the success of the "Junior League Exchange," which is open from noon until 4, Monday through Friday, and from 10 until 2 on Saturdays. Several new items, it was reported, have been added to the merchandise, including Brownie uniforms, hand hooked rugs, and baby presents.

Other business included the appointment of Mrs. Randolph Winston and Mrs. Kenneth Davenport as delegates to the Regional Conference in New York on November 30.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. C. J. Gross, Mrs. John Roberts, and Mrs. Herbert Schultz.

Married in First Baptist Church

The former Miss Blanche North, who became the bride of Raymond Webster in a double ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church, this city, on Sunday.

Blanche North Wed To Raymond Webster In Church Ceremony

Miss Blanch North, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elston North of Hurley, and Clarence R. Webster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Webster of Linderman avenue extention were married in a double ring ceremony in the First Baptist Church, this city, the Rev. Donald Brown officiating.

The church chancel was decorated for the wedding with pink and white chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown with long sleeves and mandarin collar. The skirt was threaded with white satin ribbon and bows, and her double net lace trimmed veil was caught to a crown-type headpiece. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white roses and pompoms caught with a large white satin bow.

Miss Betty Lou Ford of Hurley was maid of honor. She was dressed in a yellow net gown with a braided rose headpiece and carried a white and yellow chrysanthemum bouquet gathered with yellow satin ribbon.

Raymond Webster, stationed with the Army Air Force at Stewart Field, was best man for his brother.

A reception for the immediate families was held at Evergreen Inn on the Saugerties road following the ceremony.

For her trip to New York and Atlantic City the bride selected a burnt orange suit with blue accessories and a gardenia corsage. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Webster will make their home on Hurley avenue.

Joan M. Conlon and James E. Howard Are Wed at Nuptial Mass in St. Mary's

Miss Joan M. Conlon, daughter of Mrs. Kathryn Conlon, 611 Delaware avenue, and James E. Howard, son of James R. Howard, 91 Newkirk avenue, were married last Saturday at a 10 o'clock nuptial Mass in St. Mary's Church, the Rev. Martin J. Drury officiating.

Theodore Ricciobono served as organist, while Martin Kelly sang "Ave Maria," "O Lord I Am Not Worthy," and "Panis Angelicus." The church was decorated for the ceremony with white chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her brother, Robert Conlon, the bride wore a traditional white slipper satin gown with medallions of Viennese type lace. The gown was cut with a fitted bodice, high neckline, and long pointed sleeves. Her illusion veil was draped from a satin, egg shell calot, with seed pearl trim, and she carried a prayerbook with white pompons and orchid.

Phyllis Conlon, 611 Delaware avenue, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Conlon wore a strapless powder blue taffeta gown, with lace top, jacket and a matching half-hat trimmed with plumes. Her colonial bouquet was made from bonze pompoms.

William Tucker, 35 Shufeldt street, was best man. Ushers were William Howard, brother of the groom, and William Prendergast.

Following a reception for 100 guests at the Stuyvesant Hotel, the couple departed on their wedding trip to Columbus, Ohio.

The Rev. and Mrs. Edward Hewitt, who have served in Methodist Churches throughout the area for many years, were feted September 27, in honor of their wedding anniversary and a lifetime of service by friends and neighbors in Conesville.

Past parishioners from Andes, Haines Falls, Big Indian, Olive Bridge, Pratisville, Freemont Center, Callicoon, Arkville, and Canopus met at the nearby Methodist Church where, after reviewing the familiar wedding service, a service program as a token of friendship and appreciation was held.

The program was read by Mrs. L. Mattice, Mrs. G. Tuttle, Mrs. R. Hitchcock, Mrs. M. Case, Mrs. Eliza Case, Mrs. A. Meade, Mrs. H. Brand, Mrs. H. Fancher, Mrs. J. Fancher, Mrs. T. Hughs, and Mrs. Arlen Taylor, while Mrs. Dominique Sens of New York city and Conesville, was hostess.

B'nai B'rith Hears Prejudice Lecture By Israel H. Moss

Speaking before a packed audience at the B'nai B'rith clubhouse, 265 Wall street, Israel H. Moss, regional director of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, Albany, urged members to join the "Crusade for Freedom."

"The present international crisis has made it imperative for every American to stand up and be counted," Mr Moss told them. "Either you are for a democracy, or you are for totalitarianism. There are no other choices."

Mr. Moss went on to describe the role B'nai B'rith has played in making "freedom" more than an abstract concept

"B'nai B'rith is proud," he said, "of our great American heritage of freedom. For 107 years this oldest Jewish service organization in the United States has supported free institutions. That is why today we have wholeheartedly endorsed the "Crusade for Freedom" to bring light and knowledge to the dark abyss of terrorism that exists in countries behind the Iron Curtain."

In continuing, Mr Moss described those "who in the guise of patriotism, and fighting communism, have taken on the mantle of Hitlerism."

Becoming more specific, Mr. Moss lashed out against the National Economic Council, quoting Erwin C. Viehlein, president of the Joseph Schlitz Brewing Co., as saying:

"Frankly, we were misled by Hart's plea that this organization was just fighting the menace of communism. Certainly we would never have backed either the council or Hart if we had known of its anti-Semitic activities, because racial and religious prejudice is abhorrent to me personally."

In conclusion the speaker described the work of the Albany office of the Anti-Defamation League in promoting human relations, and outlined a suggested audio-visual workshop for community leaders in Kingston, an experiment which has proved highly successful in more than 100 cities throughout the country.

Marionettes Play Rip Van Winkle's Familiar Legend

The well known Herrick Marionettes brought Washington Irving's familiar legend back to life last night as the clever puppets, faithfully copied from the pages of "Rip Van Winkle," opened the first session of St. James Methodist Church fair.

Other specialty numbers included in the three-act marionette presentation were Tommy N. Terwilliger, the "TNT" marionette, and violin soloist "David," who delighted his audience by diligently sawing away on his miniature wooden fiddle.

The Herrick marionettes will appear once again tonight, as the two-day fair draws to a close.

Also featured at St. James this week is the Eighmey Circus, which boasts "the largest model menagerie in existence," in addition to a seven-tent circus model, all faithfully copied in miniature.

The Eighmey Circus, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Eighmey and sons, Kingston, will also give a repeat performance.

Other attractions at the St. James' fair are food, candy, jewelry, fancy articles, stationery, flowers, plastics, and other booths.

The public is cordially invited to the fair, scheduled to extend through tonight at the church rooms, corner of Fair and Pearl streets.

Educators Gather For Discussion on Retarded Children

An interested and enthusiastic group of educators from communities spread over the Hudson Valley area, gathered for an all-day meeting at the Ellsworth School, Poughkeepsie, Saturday to open their second year of work and study with mentally-handicapped, slow-learning, and retarded children.

Addressing the morning session, Dr. Frederick Bair, chief of the Bureau of Curriculum Development, State Education Department, Albany, based his remarks on the theme that the progress made in education should be judged by the advancement of the slowest group, rather than those who are average and above average. He also reviewed advances in education during the last century, with special emphasis on the increased advantages of scope and accomplishment.

Returning to the problem of retarded children, Dr. Bair stated, "when we have discovered their needs and have met them to the point where these boys and girls can be good citizens, and, if possible, at least partially, if not wholly self-supporting, then, and only then, can we judge 'progress' accurately."

In conclusion he complimented those working in this field of special education, one of the last to receive recognition, for their pioneering spirit, and announced that a new handbook for special classes would be published in the near future.

Charles Becker, Supervisor of Education for Handicapped Children, State Education Department, further elaborated on the importance of the handbook and explained its many uses, in addition to stressing the need for special education at an early age.

It takes about seven years for an orchid to progress from sprouting seeds to gorgeous flowers.

Burke Shifts Maroon Eleven Lineup for Port Jervis Game Friday Night

Carpino, Two Ends Named Starters in Conference Game

Al Carpino's fine backfield work against Highland High in last Saturday's opener for Coach Will Burke's Maroon and White eleven has earned him a starting berth for Friday's encounter at Port Jervis.

This was made known late Wednesday morning, when Coach Burke said Carpino would probably replace Frank Modica in the K H S secondary for the opening conference clash Friday night.

The naming of Carpino for the starting role was one of three probable changes from last week's lineup.

The other two concerned the end positions with Charlie Tiano slated to replace Aspermonte while Carl Schroeder was named as the probable replacement for Adam Fiore at the right end slot.

The Maroons, who were held to a 6-0 tie by Coach Frank LaFalce's Highland squad last Saturday afternoon, came through the battle with only minor injuries, the K H S grid mentor said Wednesday. "In fact," he said, "injuries may play an important part in the selection of the man to start at right end." He explained that both Fiore and Schroeder have slight injuries at the present time.

Meanwhile, preparations are going on daily to get the Maroons at top strength for their battle with Coach Roger Robinson's Port Jervis Redlegs. The Tri-Staters bowled over Goshen Central last week by 27 to 6 and although the losers can't be classed in the DUSO conference class, Port looked impressive.

Led by Bob Hoppey, Tracy Longwell and Dick Shewchuk, three fleet-footed backs, the Tri-States looked very fast and dangerous.

Port's running of the T-formation and wing-T also impressed onlookers who left the game thinking this might be the year for Port.

Hoppey, slated for big things in the DUSO circuit this fall didn't waste much time in showing his wares. After Goshen used three downs following the opening kickoff, Hoppey took Bob Jensen's punt on his own 25 and reeled off a sizzling 75 yard gallop for a touchdown.

Middies at Newburgh

The Kingston-Port Jervis tilt will be the only DUSO action Friday night. However, Coach Ed Rodiek's Middletown squad will invade the lair of Newburgh's Free Academy Saturday afternoon.

Middletown lost its second straight game of the season last Saturday to Binghamton by the score of 13 to 0. Mearwhile, the Goldbacks evened their record for the year at 1-1 by downing Saratoga Springs last week-end 12 to 7. Newburgh had previously lost to Ossining by 20 to 0.

Following are the tentative lineups for the Friday night game:

Kingston		Port Jervis
Tiano	LE	Kent
Engle	LT	Wendt
Will Hansen	LG	Quick
Hinkley	C	Cherry
Walt Hansen	RG	J Barber
Berryann	RT	Smith
Schroeder	RE	Van Sickle

Will Broadcast Game

Dick McCarthy, local sportscaster, will give a play-by-play broadcast of the Kingston High School vs Port Jervis DUSO League football game from Port Jervis Friday night. The broadcast will start over the local station at 7:30 p. m.

Sampson-Salvati Go Tops Tonight's Card

Amateur boxing returns to the municipal auditorium tonight when the simon pures go into action for the first time since the long summer layoff.

A big card of bouts has been arranged by Bill Singer, B'nai B'rith boxing chairman, starting with the first prelim at 9 o'clock.

Topping the first winter show will be the lightweight match between Kenny Sampson, impressive Boston lightweight who has won 19 out of 21 bouts, and Vince Salvati the Troy, Adirondack District champion. Salvati has been a real crowd-pleaser in the local ring where he has five wins to his credit.

Other five-rounders making up the bill follow:

Ronnie Greenfield, 205, Boston, vs Vince Lita, 195, Middletown.

Art Pringle, New England flyweight champion vs Leo Dickson, Troy. Pringle a crew member of the U S S Constitution, is credited with 49 wins in 53 scraps.

Jimmy Adams 208 finalist in the U S Navy championships vs Joe Hudson, 210 Albany.

The balance of the card will include three three-round prelims.

Schulers Cop Win On Wrong Basket Deuce by Opponent

Schuler's Inn registered a 64 to 63 squeaker victory over the Flying Saucers Wednesday night in the B Division of the Y Autumn Basketball League thanks to a two-pointer by Harold Maybanks of the Saucers.

Midway in the third canto Maybanks got his signals mixed and rifled a deuce in the wrong basket. Little was thought of the shot at that time but it proved to be the deciding tally as Schulers went on to win the one-point decision.

Schulers finished strong to pull the game out of the fire after trailing at halftime by 33 to 32 and 17 to 9 at the first period.

Hotaling, Molt Leonard and Grunenwald sparked the Inn boys to their victory with 16, 13 and 14 points respectively. Schultz, center for the losers found the range for 24 while Koenig dipped the cords for 18.

Accord Stops Jackets

In another close ball game the Accord Chevies came through on the long end of a 53 to 50 count over the Yellow Jackets.

The Chevies trailing for the first three sessions found the range in the final quarter and outscored their opponents by 22 to 9 to clinch the game.

J. Green and G. Buddenbaum paced the winners with 12 and 11 points in that order. L. Jackson was high for the losers with 21.

The scores:

Birds Clinch Series

Columbus, O., Oct. 5 (AP)—The Columbus Red Birds racked up a second major conquest for Manager Rollie Hemsley last night in beating the Baltimore Orioles 6 to 3 in the final and winning game of the Little World Series. Hemsley, who piloted the American Association Red Birds to four wins in five games with the International League champions, managed the Nashville Vols when they won the Southern Association pennant last year.

Henrich Needs Aid Of Teammate to Enter Shibe Park

Philadelphia, Oct. 5 (AP)—Tommy Henrich discovered that fame fades fast.

It was only a year ago that the veteran New York Yankee outfielder was a World Series hero. His ninth-inning home run defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers 1-0 in the first game of the 1949 World Series.

Special police guarding the Yankee clubhouse yesterday required considerable convincing before they permitted the unrecognized Yankee outfielder to enter the dressing room.

"Who are you?" was the gruff inquiry.

"I'm a ball player," came Henrich's simple reply.

Finally, a teammate came along and told the guard that Tommy was a ball player.

The teammate neglected to add that "Old Reliable" was quite a ball player even though sidelined by injuries for the current series.

A fan who rode a bus 27 hours then stood in line for nine hours to win a place among the first hundred bleacherites to enter Shibe Park yesterday grabbed the No. 1 spot for today's game.

To make sure he would be first Ralph J. Belcore, 36, of Chicago left the park before the start of the ninth inning yesterday. He parked himself on a peach basket at the bleacher entrance. He had a good 10-minute start on other enthusiasts.

Mike Yanni loves kids and baseball. Armed with 35 box seat tickets he gathered together that many newsboys and took them to yesterday's opener. When some newsies argued they couldn't leave their papers unsold, Mike bought up their supply. At the game he also picked up the tab for hot dogs and hot chocolates for the boys.

Short Series Looms if Roberts Fails to Halt Yankees Today

By JACK HAND

Philadelphia, Oct. 5 (AP)—Robin Roberts must stop the New York Yankees today—or else. That is the opinion at World Series headquarters as the Phils' 20-game winner prepares to meet Allie Reynolds (16-12) in the second game.

Manager Eddie Sawyer lost his daring gamble on Jim Konstanty in yesterday's 1-0 opener. But not before his relief ace turned in a pitching job that long will be remembered. Vic Raschi simply threw too hard for the dazed National League champs despite Konstant's heart-tugging effort.

Now it's up to Roberts, wonder boy of Sunday's pennant clincher. Well rested after his strenuous chore against Brooklyn, Roberts must win or the 1950 series may not come back to Philadelphia

After today's game at 1 p. m. (E.S.T.), the clubs move to New York's Yankee Stadium for the next three—if five are needed. Only if a sixth or seventh is played will they return to Shibe Park next week.

Face Uphill Job

The Phils face an uphill job, reflected by the oddsmakers who rate the youthful Whizz Kids 5 to 1 underdogs in man-to-man betting. Reynolds is a 7½ to 5 choice over Roberts in the second game, to be played before more than 30,000 fans in fair, cool weather. Few want to wager that the Phils will even win two games after watching Raschi handcuff them with two singles in the opener.

Raschi's brilliant job couldn't dim the near-miracle of Konstanty. The 33-year-old bullpen veteran who hadn't started a game since 1948, deserved a better fate. He allowed only four hits in eight innings before giving way to a pinch hitter. It took two fly balls to convert one of the hits into the only run of the game.

"I don't mind losing on base hits," Konstanty said. "But when a couple of fly balls beat you, it's pretty tough."

The base hit—a double down the left field line by Bobby Brown in the fourth inning—was the only extra-baser off Konstanty. According to Jim it was a "slider at least a half foot inside." But that was the ball game when it was backed up by two fly balls that permitted Brown to score.

Sawyer Confident

Sawyer showed up at the press room last night with some of the Phil officials.

"Now we can't go into New York leading 2-0," he said. "It will have to be 1-1."

Eddie wasn't whistling past the graveyard, he and the youthful Whiz Kids have the utmost confidence in 24-year-old Roberts, their "big" pitcher

Sawyer worked 33-year-old Konstanty yesterday in a daring gamble to give Roberts more rest. The former Michigan State collegian started three games in five days last week as the Phils wobbled down the stretch. His last, of course, was the 10-inning success at Brooklyn, made possible by Dick Sisler's three-run homer.

Essentially a fast ball pitcher, like Reynolds and Raschi, Roberts has the pose of a Grover Cleveland Alexander. It is doubtful if he will be awed by a World Series after his fine job in 40 regular season games. He cost the Phils a $25,000 bonus when Chuck Ward signed him in 1947 but they never regretted a penny of it.

Reynolds, a Series veteran of 1947 and 1949, hasn't started a game since September 25. He did work twice on relief but only briefly Allie has a 16-12 season record as compared to 20-11 for Roberts.

Raschi Hot

The big Phil chance came in the fifth when they collected both of their hits. Raschi retired 13 men in order until Willie Jones singed into centerfield with one out in the fifth. After Gran Hamner flied out, Andy Seminick laced a single to left, then Raschi bore down to strike out Mike Goliat.

Raschi walked Eddie Waitkus, his only pass of the game, with one out in the sixth and proceeded to mow down the next 11 men in succession

"Shudda been a one-hitter," said Raschi. "That single by Jones—I thought it was hit real hard and I got out of the way. It was just a dribbler."

Bowling Roundup

Editor's Note -Scores of three leagues—Booster, Y International and the Business Girls at the Bowlatorium—will not be published this week due to tardy arrivals at the downtown office of The Freeman. Scores must reach the downtown office by 9 a. m. the day following the matches. Scores arriving after this hour will not be published.

Leaders in the three tardy circuits this week were Jim Howard with 504 in the Booster, F. Tackella with 501 in the International and E Scully with 476 in the Business Girls. Tackella created the biggest stir with a 250 third game single after hitting modest scores of 136 and 115.

Johnny Ferraro flirted with his second "700" series of the week Wednesday night at the friendly Central Rec planks as he blasted a sizzling 659 triple to pace the league. The "Ace" fashioned a neat 721 three-timer Sunday in the Hudson Valley Bowling League.

Ferraro opened with 211 last night and came back with hefty blasts of 194 and 254 for his 659 series.

George Robinson followed in close order with 224-257 for 648; John MacLellan 226-217-643; Randy Kelder 235-223-628; Eddie Murphy 256-627; Hod Spaulding 255-222-618; Charlie "Juice" Manfro 209-201-207-617; Steve Fassbender 243-615; Cliff Quick with the unusual triplicate of 204-204-204 for 612. Still in the 600 field were George "Curly" Flemings 608, Ernie Bartroff 607 and C. Robinson 234-608.

Dot Rawding nosed out Rose Schatzel by two pins to grab top honors in the Gold Division of the Colonial Women's League Wednesday night at the Bowlatorium. Mrs. Rawding founds counts of 187-203-163 for a 553 series while Mrs. Schatzel fired games of 176-190-185 for 551.

The only other 500 of the night was turned in by Mary Bonacci who hit 506.

Others of note were Reta Frederick with 491; Ada Markle 491; Betty Helmbold 487; Charlotte Lapine 486; Sue Heins 483; B. Port 471; and Evelyn Gross 470.

Eleanor Dumenigo fired a 477 triple to lead the Silver Division of the loop. Her scores were 150-172-155. Marie Bechtold finished in the runnerup slot with 470.

Top pinfall in the American Federation League Wednesday night at the Y went to Don Weeks who finished with a 518 triple on games of 183-182-153.

Austin Hitchcock shot 508; Raymond Pontier 508; Art Crist 505; and Bill Hornbeck 502.

L. Cameron just missed the charmed "500" circle by four pins as she sparked the Pioneer Women's wheel at the Bowlodrome Wednesday with a 496 blast. Her sticks included 169-179-148.

Others of note included V. Janaczek 461; R. Janaczek 453; M. Greastem 437; L. Ferraro 407; and L. LaForge 402.

Rolling games of 145-131-156, Mabel Cudney topped the Pioneer Women's League at the Chalet alleys this week with a 432 series.

J. Van Kleeck posted 423; H. Sutton 413.

Hamilton, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—Colgate Coach Paul Bixler wants to make sure his signal-callers work smoothly in the Red Raiders' home opener Saturday against Western Reserve. Bixler put three quarterbacks — Ted Stratton of Ridgewood, N. J., Jack McMahon of Montclair, N. J., and Tom Kelley of Medford, Mass.—through a long briefing yesterday. Stratton is the likely starter. In a contact drill, the varsity concentrated on pass defense and line rushing.

In Select Group

VIC RASCHI

Vic Raschi, Casey Stengel's big righthander, joined the select circle of 11 other major league pitchers when he held the Philadelphia Phillies to two hits in his 1 to 0 opening game victory of the 1950 World Series at Shibe Park. Eleven other two-hitters have been recorded in World Series history.

11 Are Hospitalized

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 5 (AP)—Eleven persons were taken to the hospital and several others were treated by doctors after a trolley-bus collision on a ramp in the Harvard Square subway station today. Approximately 75 to 100 passengers were aboard the two vehicles during the rush hour traffic. The trolley bus was stopped when a Watertown-bound street car crashed into the rear of the bus throwing the passengers to the floor.

Says Lights Went Out

Officer Carl Janasiewicz reported at 3:56 a. m. today that a car had knocked down a meter stanchion and ran into a pole in front of 241 Wall street. It was learned later from John Buono of Glasco that his lights went out as he was taking a turn, the report said.

Conditions Are 'Good'

The condition of Maximilian Sachs, 66, Daniel Washburn, 63, and Joachim Hansen, 76, all of New Paltz, who were injured in a motor car accident near Springtown Tuesday afternoon, was reported as "good" at the Kingston Hospital today.

Rocky Scores K.O. In Seventh Round

Chicago, Oct. 5 (AP)—Rocky Graziano likes to fight in the Chicago Stadium.

The former middleweight champion last night returned to the arena where he scored his greatest triumph and knocked out Gene Burton, New York welterweight, in the seventh round of their scheduled 10-round bout.

It was on July 16, 1947, that Graziano knocked out Middleweight Champion Tony Zale before Chicago's largest indoor crowd of all time—19,071 fans who paid a record-breaking gate of $422,009.

There weren't that many fans at last night's bout but "The Rock" fought with the same old fury and he had Burton in full retreat beginning in the fifth round. The victory opens the door for Graziano to obtain a title match with Jake LaMotta and assures the Brooklyn Italian of a December bout in Chicago with Sugar Ray Robinson.

The attendance last night was 8,532 fans who paid $37,288.

Graziano, weighing 160, had a nine pound weight advantage over Burton.

Football Briefs

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 5 (AP)—Stu Merz of Elberon, N. J., and Bob Engel of Hackensack, N. J., are expected to see plenty of action in Cornell's gridiron clash with Syracuse Saturday. Merz, a junior, drilled yesterday at left halfback, right halfback and fullback on offense. Engel worked at left half on both offense and defense.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 5 (AP)—Mark Hoffman, a sophomore from New Tripoli, Pa., will start at fullback for Syracuse Saturday, when the Orange plays host to Cornell Coach Floyd Schwartzwalder picked Hoffman yesterday to replace John Colceri, who suffered a leg injury in the game against Temple last Friday night Colceri, who lives in Canton, Ohio, also is a sophomore. Schwartzwalder still may have to find replacements for left guard Gene Austin of Canton and left tackle Dan Reimer of Bath, Pa. They, too, were among the 10 Syracuse men injured in the Temple game.

May Spring Surprise

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 5 (AP) Rutgers may spring a surprise against Princeton Saturday by putting three passers in one backfield. Coach Harvey Harman yesterday used Jim Monahan of West Haven, Conn., and Ray Vohden of Springfield, both accurate passers, in the same backfield with tosser Walt La Prarie of Freeport, N. Y., the starting quarterback, in a practice session. La Prarie, incidentally, is fully recovered from his ankle injury and definitely will start against the Tigers, Harman said. Monahan, who also does the punting, will play left halfback. Vohden will run from fullback.

EAT WELL for Less

PLUMP CHICKEN IS A FAVORITE

DRUMSTICK FOR LUNCH is a real treat to this schoolboy. He likes a varied lunch with a taste-treat like chicken.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Budget sense turns thoughts to chicken these days. Those plump little 3 to 3½ pounders raised in the state of Delaware are a good type for frying, broiling or roasting.

These recipes come from noted Delaware cooks. They say it is always thrifty to cook two 3 or 3½ pounders at a time, calling attention to the joy of a school child finding a drum stick in the lunch box next day.

Chicken Fried in Covered Skillet

Cut two young frying chickens (about 3 pounds each) into serving pieces. Wash and dry well. Put ¾ cup sifted flour in paper bag, add salt and white pepper to taste, shake chicken pieces, (two at a time) in paper bag until well coated with flour.

Meanwhile, heat about ¼ pound butter or fortified margarine in 10-inch frying pan. Fry chicken in hot fat until well browned, turning occasionally. Add ¼ cup hot water or soup stock to browned chicken, cover pan, lower heat and cook until chicken is tender.

Remove chicken to warm platter; make gravy from drippings in pan, giblet stock or light cream or top milk.

Chicken Fried in Uncovered Skillet

Prepare chicken for frying as above. Heat enough fortified margarine or vegetable shortening in 10-inch frying pan to cover about ¼ inch of bottom. Saute chicken in hot fat until well browned, turning frequently.

Lower heat slightly and fry in open pan until tender, turning occasionally. Drain on brown paper, and serve immediately on warm platter. Make gravy if desired.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, oatmeal, cinnamon toast, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Creamed salmon on toast, grated carrot and cabbage salad, gingerbread, tea, milk.

DINNER: Chicken fried in covered skillet, cream gravy, mashed potatoes, buttered carrots with chopped parsley, enriched rolls, butter or fortified margarine, celery hearts, canned plums, coffee, milk.

KRUMVILLE

Krumville, Oct. 5—The tax collector for school tax for Onteora Central School District will be at Eckert's store in Krumville on Monday, October 9 for the convenience of taxpayers.

Chris Andersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Andersen, and friend of New York called on several people in this community last week.

Ralph Jacobsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arne Jacobsen, has returned from the west coast.

District Superintendent Bennett called at the local school one morning last week.

The annual supper of the Cemetery Association will be held in the parsonage on Friday evening. This is to be a ham supper and is open to the public.

The Parent-Teacher Association met Thursday at the schoolhouse. Through the efforts of the club repairs have been made by the Highway Department to a dangerous spot in the road near the school. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Arne Jacobsen and Mrs. Juan Botella.

Beaver Is Shocked

Helena, Mont. (AP)—While fishery men were operating an electrical shocking machine in Little Prickly Pear Creek, stunning fish so they could be weighed, measured and tagged, a beaver swam between the electrodes. The startled animal leaped from the water twice, then sank. The crew on the machine hauled the dam builder to the bank and in 45 minutes the animal recovered and scurried away to resume his wood-cutting.

Registration Days

Friday and Saturday are the first two days of registration in the City of Kingston. If you do not register, you cannot vote in the important general election on November 7. Plan to register tomorrow or Saturday. The polls will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Wind Behind Fire

Windsor, Ont. (AP)—When a baseboard in a bathroom caught fire it took a little while to find the cause. Apparently wind had torn an eavestrough off the corner of the house and one end of it dropped on a live wire, causing a short circuit.

Drafted Chairman For Ahavath Ball

HERMAN G. RAFALOWSKY

Although he expressed a strong desire to the contrary, Herman G. Rafalowsky has been chosen again as general chairman of Congregation Ahavath Israel's Thanksgiving eve ball.

The uptown merchant was drafted for the position after he pleaded for a release after 14 consecutive years as director of the annual event that is always one of the highlights of the social season.

But his record of successes was the only consideration of the committees assembled to plan for this year's ball and entertainment at the municipal auditorium.

Even his brilliant salesmanship was ineffective as he gave the reasons for naming a new general chairman this time.

Can't Disappoint Public

Several spokesmen reeled off the scintillating shows he has brought to Kingston for Ahavath Israel, and stressed that patrons might be disappointed, if he didn't take the chairmanship again and follow his regular policy of "A bigger and better show than ever, with a top name band included."

Rafalowsky had to give in to the demands of his fellow committeemen, and he's back in the pilot's seat again despite his personal pressing business, arranging for a big name band and leading figures of the entertainment world to appear at the auditorium Thanksgiving eve.

He has brought in many top-flight bands including Jack Teagarden, Sammy Kaye, Johnny Long, Vincent Lopez and others. Also entertainment stars like Jan Murray, Al Bernie, Morey Amsterdam and many in the same class

Knows Talent, People

Professional program directors consider Rafalowsky a match for anybody in their profession as a connoisseur of talent. And they envy his knack of knowing just what the public demands.

"As long as I'm back in the harness," he told a reporter, "we're out to set a new record, and, with the help of my committees this year's ball will be our best."

Rafalowsky is noted for his generosity in giving of his time and personal donations to various civic causes and religious projects regardless of creed.

Al Sabath Dies

Philadelphia, Oct. 5 (AP)—Al Sabath, owner of the famous Alsab Farms racing stable and the great horse Alsab was stricken fatally today at his suite in a downtown hotel. Sabath, 57, lived at 677 West Washington street) Chicago. He was here for the race meeting at Garden State Park in Camden N. J., which is operating simultaneous with the World Series. Sabath became ill at the hotel and died before he could be taken to a hospital. An attending physician reported Sabath apparently died of a coronary thrombosis.

Resort Is Burned

Monticello, N. Y., Oct. 5 (AP)—Fire believed caused by a faulty kitchen range early today destroyed the main building of Farbstein Homes, a vacation resort in nearby Maplewood. A passing truck driver wakened the owner of the summer colony, Abe Nurtzag. He was there alone with his helper. Firemen used booster lines to wet down eight bungalows near the 12-room main building which was used for summer apartments. Damage was estimated unofficially at $20,000.

Poultry men have been seeking to develop a new grade of meat chickens by crossing them with pheasants.

Farm Damage Case Starts in Court

Arthur Baruch and wife have brought an action in Supreme Court to recover damages from Gabriele Cicale for damages arising out of a sale of a farm in the town of Marlborough back in May 1947. Plaintiff alleges that on May 7, 1947, they contracted to buy the farm for $28,000 and that the defendant was to spray the fruit trees and turn over certain tools and equipment. Plaintiff now claims the trees were not sprayed and the fruit suffered damage between May 7 when the contract was made and June when the deed was delivered.

A jury was taken in Supreme Court this morning to hear the case. McCabe and Rosen appear for the plaintiff and Andrew W. Lent appears for defendant.

A negligence action, No. 22, brought by Philip Pampinella against Norman D. Milford and another, was announced settled.

Governor Calls

O'Dwyer last winter that the state legalize gambling on all public sporting events "was their official attitude toward gambling."

According to Dewey, O'Dwyer "asked that all this awful mess we see now in New York city be legalized and spread to the length and breadth of the state."

Dewey continued his attack on the New York city gambling scandal as he addressed a crowd of about 500 gathered before the David A. Howe Public Library in Wellsville this morning.

He charged that "the Democrats are the private property of Paving Block Ed Flynn."

When asked for Dewey comment on a charge by Rep. Walter A. Lynch, Democratic nominee for governor, that Dewey had tolerated lax enforcement of laws against crime and vice and "condoning" gambling in Republican counties, the governor's secretary, James C. Hagerty, replied:

"All the phony Democratic charges will be answered in due course."

The coal fields of China probably are the largest in the world. The product was mined and used in that country 2000 years ago.

Schafer Honored by Merchants

J. E. Scott, left, manager of Scott's Dress Shop, Wall street, presents a check for $50 to Lou Schafer on behalf of the uptown businessmen during the testimonial dinner for the Y physical director Wednesday night. The money will be used by Schafer for work with the young people of Kingston. (Freeman Photo)

Testimonial Held For 'Y' Physical Head This Week

"Lou Schafer is doing a fine job for the young boys and girls with his teaching of sports tactics as connected with physical education along with the art of teaching, swimming and life saving," J. E. Scott said during a testimonial dinner for the Y M C A. physical director Wednesday night.

Scott, who presented Schafer with a $50 check to be used for work with the young people of Kingston, lauded the Y physical head for his outstanding contribution to the community. The check was raised by donations from uptown businessmen.

Schafer came to the local Y in 1943 and has taught about 1,200 to 1,400 children to swim. In addition, he has been a vital cog in amateur basketball at the Y.

A great backer of the life saving and water safety program of the Y.M.C.A. and American Red Cross, Schafer has had about 300 taking these special instructions during the past seven years. Many have passed these tests while older boys advanced to lifesaving work on the swimming beaches around the Mid-Hudson Valley.

In teaching more than 6,000 boys and girls in the art of swimming during his life time, Scott quoted Schafer's theory in lifesaving when he said "the most successful part of life saving is the preliminary work done by a beach or pool life guard to prevent swimming accidents—that is rule of proper conduct on the beach and in the water."

The speaker also hailed Schafer for his tremendous work at the Y.M.C.A. Day Camp at DeWitt Lake. He pointed out that "this year Schafer, with the aid of two swimming assistants, had about 85 instructional swim classes, most of which were for beginners."

Scott also pointed out that 92 campers between six and 10 years of age were taught to swim at least a distance of 25 yards. He said the camp had 11 life guards, all of whom took their life saving instructions in the Y pool under the direction of the Y physical director.

Basketball Successes

Schafer's success with swimmers, the speaker said, is traced to his achievements as coach of two boys' swimming teams crowned as Connecticut state champs, one while at the Greenwich Y and the other at New London, Conn.

The speaker also touched on Schafer's connections in basketball circles. He related that his Connecticut Y varsity teams won two state championships while at another time his team finished seventh in the National Y.M.C.A. championships at Chicago with 22 different states represented.

"Coaches in sports lay great stress on fundamentals," Scott stated and "Mr. Schafer is no exception. One should see his eight, nine and 10-year-old boys' group in gym Saturday morning."

The speaker went on to describe the teaching of these youngsters on the proper methods of handling a basketball, methods which go a long way in making good basketball players, the speaker added.

He supported this statement by quoting Coach Howie O'Dell, former coach at Yale University who once said, "If it were not for the Y.M.C.A's, Boys' Clubs and high schools, all teaching and coaching basketball, the college would never have the basketball material that they have today."

Besides Schafer's work with the basketball and swimming athletes, he also carries out an all-round physical program, Scott said.

He explained that Y members have access to calisthenics, mat work, indoor softball, group and relay games and numerous other gymnasium activities.

Schafer also has done much to improve indoor softball play by the younger boys at the Y, the speaker pointed out.

In closing, Scott, carrying out the physical director's hope, issued a cordial invitation to parents of young boys to attend the Saturday morning classes at 9.30 to see just what progress is being made

South Koreans

11 miles northeast of Seoul. Resistance was scattered.

On the east coast, the South Korean Third Division was 60 miles north of the Red border. It was within 25 miles of Tongchon, where the Reds might attempt a stand in defense of Wonsan, an industrial center, some 25 miles farther north

At least 20,000 Korean Republican troops were already in Red territory. These are the Capital Division inland and the Third on the Sea of Japan coast.

Other South Korean divisions totaling perhaps 30,000 men were either across the boundary or arrayed along it.

Had Cooled Enough

There had been speculations—official and other—as to whose orders sent the Republican forces across the boundary Sunday But if this had been a hot potato, it evidently had cooled enough for handling by American military sources. They said

"General MacArthur had as much authority over the South Korean forces as he does over an American division."

Moving forward with Allied ground forces, seven squadrons of jet and other fighter planes were on new bases. From these points closer to 38, the air force said, any target in North Korea is within easy range of airborne rockets and jellied gasoline firebombs.

The air-battered Red territory hitherto has been mainly the hunting ground of B-29s based in Japan and Okinawa They already have wiped out big industrial centers but their assaults on rail lines continue.

The Far East air forces summary reported the bombers blasted the 75-mile length of the Wonsan-Hamhung rail line in northeastern Korea. A military training camp at Munpyong, five miles north of Wonsan, also was hit.

Roads Are Patrolled

Roads southward in Korea from the Manchurian border of Red China are being patrolled by B-29s, MacArthur's summary reported. There were no fresh reports of any highway convoys between the border and the Red Korean capital at Pyongyang.

B-26 light bombers patrolled the peninsula from the west to east coasts, between the 38th and 39 Parallels, just below Pyongyang. An air force spokesman said a 10-car train moving south from Pyongyang was badly damaged Wednesday night.

The B-29s could find few "significant moving targets" on the highway and rail network in Red Korea, the summary added

Behind the allied forces gathering south of Red territory trapped and widely scattered Red remnants were turning increasingly toward vicious guerrilla activities.

Increase Is Noted

General MacArthur's spokesman noted the increase of Red raider action and said it might create a serious harassment of rear areas

Intelligence officers at U. S Eighth Army headquarters said 2,000 Red troops swooped down from the hills and slaughtered between 1,000 and 2,000 Korean civilians at Wonju, 55 miles southeast of Seoul.

Also slain there were five American officers attached to a South Korean Army command post which the Reds overran

Red atrocity murders reached an estimated total of 25,000 Of the victims, more than 10,000 were reported killed in and about Seoul during the Red occupation and in the final fighting days before the capital's liberation.

Efforts to capture trapped Reds in southwestern Korea were intensified. An Eighth Army communique reported planes are dropping safe conduct passes and soon will broadcast instructions telling Red stragglers to assemble unarmed in open places.

Intelligence officers in Tokyo said only two sizable intact Red forces remain in South Korea—2,000 men each in the Jumchon area between Taegu and Taejon, and in the Namwon area in the southwest

Prisoners said the group near Namwon still had nine or 10 artillery pieces, six trucks and one tank.

How many of the trapped Reds have filtered back to the north along winding mountain trails has not been estimated officially Prisoners taken thus far have identified themselves from five of the 13 Red divisions that had attacked the allied beachhead in the southwest.

Polio Shows Decline

Washington, Oct 5 (AP)—Polio declined last week for the first time since the week ending May 20, the Public Health Service said today The agency said this is the latest period in 20 years- except for 1932—that the disease apparently has passed its seasonal peak It was also the first week since mid-May in which the number of new cases was greater than for the corresponding week in 1949 Last year the peak came in the week ending Aug 20

Blood Donors Sought

The police department was asked last night by Mrs. Francis Grunenwald to assist in obtaining blood donors for her father, Leslie Flowers, who is seriously ill at the Benedictine Hospital. Four donors are needed, she said and early today she reported that only one response had been received Those who wish to donate blood are asked to telephone 5223-W.
